FLEES JOB TO BECOME BRIDE

Miss Lottie Moses Takes Husband Instead of Situation.

LEAVES WORK TO JOIN HER LOVER

When Father Wasn't Looking She Weds Emery Brindle, of Sheldon.

Preferring a husband to a job, Miss Lottie Moses quietly slipped away from a situation which her father had secured for her at the Fort Wayne Electric works Monday morning, joined her lover down town and a few minutes later became Mrs. Emery T. Brindle, of Sheldon. And while all this was transpiring, George Moses, father of the young woman, was at his work in the shipping department of the works, oblivious of the romantic situation under which his daughter was acquiring a husband and himself a son-in-law.

Mr. Brindle is 21 years of age and is employed as engineer in the mills of the Sprang Clay Products company at Sheldon, this county. Mr. Moses and his family reside at Sheldon, where the attractive young bride, who is 19 years of age, was for a time a deputy in the village postoffice. The young people had been lovers for some time, but for some reason the girl's father did not smile upon the match.

But Lovers Had a Plan.

With the father's continued opposition to the marriage, the young people devised a plan which they carried to a successful conclusion Monday. Mr. Moses believed it better for his daughter to continue in single blessedness until she were a few years older, and to this end he on last Friday secured her a position in the fan motor department of the Electric works, where a large number of girls and women are employed.

Miss Moses was to begin work this week, and on Monday morning she accompanied her father to this city and to the factory, where he took her to the department and introduced her to the foreman in charge. Presuming she would start to work, the father went into his own department to take up his labors for the day. It was not until the evening newspapers on Monday carried the announcement of the issuing of the marriage license that the news of the wedding came out.

Met Her Lover Down Town.

About the factory is going the rumor that beneath her working attire Miss Moses wore her wedding gown, and that the transformation in apparel was quickly made in the privacy of the women's locker room at the factory. At any rate, Miss Moses did not begin work on the job her father had secured for her.

Within a few minutes she quietly left the factory, and down town was joined by her lover, who had come from Sheldon on an interurban car in accordance with a prearranged plan between the lovers.

They proceeded to the court house where a marriage license was secured, and the services of Justice L. P. Huser were enlisted. The justice came from his office to that of the county clerk, and here in a few moments was performed the ceremony that linked the young lovers for life. Mr. Brindle and his bride left a little later for Sheldon, where they will make their home, awaiting the parental blessing they feel certain will come.

SHOOTS ALLEGED DESPOILER.

Railroad Man Wounds Another Probably Fatally at Princeton.

Princeton, Ind., Feb. 7.—Charles Billingly was shot and probably fatally wounded at the Southern railroad round house yesterday afternoon, following a quarrel in which Ross is alleged to have accused Billingsly of being too friendly with Mrs. Ross. Ross went directly to the sheriff's office and gave himself up. Both men are railroad firemen, about 25 years old. Billingsly is the son of Cal Billingsly, a veteran engineer of the Southern, and is single. It is said Ross had been waiting for Billingsly to come in off his run. Immediately after Billingsly got off his engine the two men met in the wash room and hot words were heard, followed by two shots. Bystanders rushed in and found the two struggling for the gun. "Don't let him have the revolver; he's already killed me," Billingsly exclaimed. Ross gave the weapon to a bystander. Ross and his wife have had trouble, and it is understood Ross blamed Billingsley.

TEACHERS' SUITS APPEALED.

Townships Fail to Pay Salary Because Cash Is Lacking.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Two suits, appealed from the Marion circuit court to the appellate court, yesterday, involve the authority of a township to pay a teacher for services after the money in the treasury for school purposes has been exhausted. In each case the teacher's contract called for 120 days at a stipulated salary. The terms of the contract were fulfilled by the teachers, and the township trustee failed and refused to make full payment, on the ground that no money in the treasury was available. One of the suits is against Rutherford township for $138 back salary and was decided in favor of T. A. Small, the plaintiff, and the other against Mitchelltree township for $64.25, was decided in favor of F. E. Baker, also the plaintiff.

Mr. Russell, manager of the local office of R. G. Dunn & Co., went to Wabash today on a business trip.

CUT FEDERAL REGIMENT UP

Diaz Eighteenth Infantry Said to Be All But Annihilated.

VANQUISHER TO HASTEN TO JAUREZ

Rebel Forces Are Within Day's March of City on the Border.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 7.—The revolutionary forces under Pasqual Orozco are at the Flores ranch, about fifteen miles southeast of Juarez, today, awaiting reinforcements under Blanco coming up from Casas Grandes. Americans arriving overland from that place state that the reason Blanco has not already joined Orozco in front of Juarez was that he has been fighting the Eighteenth federal infantry which was marching from Galagos on the Mexican National road to Casas Grandes.

Federal Regiment Wiped Out.

These Americans say it is currently reported in Casas Grandes that the Eighteenth infantry was practically annihilated and that Blanco would at once advance north.

Juarez today has resumed its normal business aspect, but troops are still on guard on all buildings.

Regardless of the fact that twenty soldiers and six women are now lying wounded in the Juarez hospital, victims of the fighting near Juarez Sunday, circulars were distributed in the streets of Juarez this morning declaring that Robago on Sunday defeated the rebels with heavy loss and himself sustained only one killed and four wounded.

The Juarez circular is headed: "Viva Diaz. Death to rebels."

Says Orozco Was Killed.

The circular says Orozco was surely killed in Sunday's fighting and adds that Madero is now waiting in El Paso "for a chance that will never come to enter Juarez and set up a rebel capital."

Everything was quiet in Juarez throughout the night. The federal soldiers kept a sharp lookout, sentries being posted on all sides of the city. Rumors of attempts to pass machine guns and ammunition across the border to the insurrectos were current, but could not be confirmed.

Attempts to locate Orozco, Alanis and Blanco so far have not been successful and it is all a matter of conjecture where the revolutionary commanders are encamped.

QUIET ALONG THE LINE.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 7.—Passengers reaching here this morning on the through Mexican National train report quiet at all points along that line. The train left Saltillo at 6 o'clock last night. Newspaper men among the passengers stated they heard nothing of an outbreak at that point during their stay of twenty minutes at the railroad station.

DR. PANTCHENKO STILL HOAXES 'EM

Alleged Poisoner Having the Time of His Life at His Trial.

SPINS A NEW YARN

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—Digging into the past of Dr. Pantchenko today the prosecution developed that he was once an employe on the Northwestern railroad, having received his appointment upon the recommendation of Count Witte.

Fellow employes testified that he neglected his duty and once when reprimanded, Pantchenko explained that he was frequently incapacitated, being a sufferer from kidney disease.

Under examination he fooled the head physician of the road into believing that the disease had reached an advanced stage, but when he was advised to go to a hospital at once, the alleged poisoner suggested that it would be more convenient for him and quite as well if someone else was sent to the infirmary under his name. Pantchenko was asked today to explain his deception but the prosecutor failed to get much from him.

Continuing the evidence that Pantchenko poisoned Count Vassilli Bouturlin at the instigation of Count Patrick O'Brien De Lassy, the state introduced depositions from witnesses at Vilna who told of a series of meetings between the doctor and De Lassy at a hotel and coffee houses at that place.

MAYOR BUSSE NOT CANDIDATE.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Mayor Fred A. Busse announced yesterday that he would not be a candidate for re-election. Alderman Charles E. Merriam, the University of Chicago professor who headed "the Merriam commission" which investigated alleged "graft," and former County Treasurer John R. Thompson are aspirants for the republican nomination. Former Mayors Edward F. Dunne and Carter H. Harrison and Andrew J. Graham, a banker, will seek the democratic nomination at the primaries.

KOSCIUSKO TO THIS DISTRICT

New Indiana Apportionment Will Add a County to Present Six.

REPUBLICAN VOTE WILL BE SWELLED

Summary of Re-Districting Measure Framed by the Democratic Solons.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Congressman W. E. Cox, of the Third Indiana congressional district, is to be the "goat" of the reapportionment if the bill agreed upon in the senate committee late last night becomes the congressional reapportionment act for the ensuing decade. This was the announcement of Senator William B. Carleton, of Evansville, chairman of the senate committee on congressional apportionment, after several hours of wrestling with the problem of redistricting the state so as to provide for only twelve congressmen, to conform to the action of the recent republican caucus at Washington fixing the ratio of population to a congressman.

Greatest Change in South Part.

The greatest change will be in the southern part of the state where the population has not increased at the rate which has obtained in the northern part and therefore the changes north will be made, it is thought, for political advantage and to reduce the number of districts. Congressman Cox, according to Senator Carleton, will be taken into the First district because of the heavy democratic majority in his home county, Dubois, which will be added to the First to make it safely democratic and not to injure the political future of Mr. Cox.

A Provisional Scheme.

The reapportionment has been arranged for the committee by Romus F. Stuart, assistant secretary of the senate, who has submitted a provisional scheme or arrangement which Senator Carleton says it is the disposition of the committee to adopt. Mr. Stuart bases his computations not on the population ratio of 235,000, which is the figure fixed by the republican caucus at Washington, from the population of the United States, but at approximately 225,000, a twelfth of the 2,700,876 people of the state. With this in mind Mr. Stuart has arranged the counties more with a view to their population, rather than for political reasons, he says.

Industrial Growth in North.

The southern part of the state comprises a widely agricultural region, while at the north of the state there has been an industrial development that has caused the districts to exceed in some instances the congressional ratio. An innovation suggested by Mr. Stuart is that instead of beginning in

WOULD PROTECT LANDLORDS.

McKennan Proposes Lien on Property of Tenant to Insure Rent.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Representative McKennan, of DeKalb county, is preparing a bill for the protection of landlords, which will be introduced some time this week. The measure will provide for a lien on the household goods of a tenant as a projection against failure to pay rent. The bill is being investigated by John A. Lapp, legislative reference librarian of the state library. Representative Maddox, who several days ago prepared a bill regulating the time for opening and closing saloons, has changed the time of opening in his measure from 6:30 a. m. to 6 o'clock, and the bill will be introduced at the first roll call for bills.

GOULD GIRLIE WEDS DECIES

Little Daughter of George Gould Becomes Bride of British Peer.

AFFAIR LAVISH IN ITS FEATURES

Great Force of Police is on Hand to Ward Off the Curious Mob.

New York, Feb. 7.—Titled notables of England and members of representative families in this country, assembled at St. Batholomew's church late this afternoon to attend the wedding of Miss Vivien Gould, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jay Gould, to John Graham Hope Horsley-Beresford, Lord Decies.

Great throngs of the curious gathered early near St. Bartholomew's to watch the wedding guests, but unyielding police lines were formed to prevent a repetition of the scenes that occurred at the Drexel-Gould wedding last year, when the police were bowled over and the frightened bridal couple almost mobbed by curiosity seekers.

Lord Decies had daily received letters threatening his life with a bomb if he wedded Miss Gould.

Lord Not Frightened.

The English peer complacently tore up the letters, but plain clothes men mingled with this afternoon's crowd and turned away several who seemed more than idly curious.

Inclement weather, slushy snow under foot and an intermittent drizzle did not serve to keep away the crowds, and hundreds fought to pass the police lines.

The crowds could see little of the bridal couple and guests, for a large canvas canopy fastened to stout steel poles, was erected in front of the edifice on Madison avenue, shutting out all view except the glimpses of those alighting from the carriages.

The Wedding Procession.

Choir boys preceded the wedding procession led by the ushers. Lord Decies awaited his bride at the chancel steps and was attended by his cousin, Lord Alastair Graham, R. N., a son of the Duke of Montrose. After the bridesmaids followed the small attendants, Baby Gloria Gould, who walked with Master William Beresford and Diana Dalziel, who was escorted by Master Marcus Beresford.

After them came little Miss Edith Gould, who was her sister's maid of honor, and following her, the bride and her father.

The wedding gown is of white satin, embroidered in white and silver, with designs of easter lilies. The train was five yards long. Over the gown was a veil of tulle caught up with orange blossoms.

The wedding presents, said to be valued at more than $100,000, were not shown at the wedding reception, but are being packed for shipment to England.

WILL CLOSE THE BAGNIOS

Judge O'Rourke Declares a Purpose to Put an End to Them.

ALL INDICTED MUST CLOSE UP

Jail Sentences for the Madames Who Do Not Shut Up Shop.

Judge Edward O'Rourke, of the circuit court has ordered the keeper of every house of ill fame to close her place of business under penalty of spending thirty days in the county jail.

He has decreed that each of them shall have a few days to settle up business affairs and has so informed them, as each has appeared before him to plead to indictments for keeping houses of ill fame. Fines of $25 and costs were assessed against each and thirty-day jail sentences were added and suspended.

"You will have to quit this business," said the judge to each of them. "I will give you a day ro two to close up your affairs and make your plans but if you do not quit you will be brought back into court and I will send you to the county jail. All right, now, you can go."

Says He Means All of It.

Do you mean that every house of ill fame included in the grand jury indictments must be closed, was asked of the judge.

"Indeed I do," was the rejoinder. "There has been a demand for the closing of these places and we will close them and see what the result will be. I mean just what I said to these women. They must all close or go to jail."

This was rather a startling positon for Judge O'Rourke to take and was a surprise to Prosecutor Albert E. Thomas, who had thought that the jail sentences were added to the fines to give him control of the situation so that he can eliminate a great many of the most glaring evils.

Are Paying Up Fines.

For two days women of the underworld have been filing into the circuit court paying fines. Many of them have been driven out of the city by the return of the indictments and of the 105 returned the sheriff has been unable to serve thirty-five of the warrants.

This afternoon Mike Wickliffe, on behalf of Jennie Wickliffe, his wife, and owner of the Arlington hotel building, entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

Will Break Up System.

Prosecutor Albert E. Thomas says he will break up commercialized vice in Fort Wayne and that he will give the matter his strict attention until he has accomplished his purpose.

"I mean by this that people must not put up those houses down there with a view of making investments that will increase the number of women in Fort Wayne. Why, some of those houses change hands every two or three weeks.

Emma Mason owns four with their furnishings and she sub-lets them as investments. Mrs. Ed Kleindinst, known as Fanny Joy, owns four, the Bonabooms own a couple, Stella Agter, who was formerly Stella Clayton, owns four; J. K. Bauer has two and these have been put up recently for the purpose of bringing in more women of the kind.

"This part of the business I will stop, and I will insist that as long as I am the prosecutor that the dealers in vice will not be permitted to carry on their trade."

FRED LADUKE OUT OF JAIL

Spent Three Years Behind Bars After Arrest for Murder.

RETURNS TO HIS HOME FREE MAN

Murder Cases Growing Out of Woodburn Shooting Settled.

After having spent three years to the day in the Allen county jail on grand jury indictments charging him with murder in the first degree and with the burglary of the Frank Faulkner saloon at Woodburn, in which Marshal Columbus Croy met his death, Fred LaDuke was today released from custody and returned to his home near Cadillac, Mich., a free man.

During all of the time he was a prisoner LaDuke's conduct was exemplary and so far as the authorities know he never uttered a complaint. He obeyed all of the jail rules implicity and while no immunity was promised him when he confessed his part in the crime and became the star witness in the conviction of Herman Miller, John Stout and John Baker, he felt that he would not have to answer in court.

As a precautionary measure he was held in jail until the courts had passed upon and reversed the cases and until he had testified a second time against Miller in the trial at Auburn, at which he was convicted of manslaughter.

Adhered to His Story

Although all of the legal batteries of experienced counsel were turned loose upon LaDuke on three occasions at widely separated intervals, he never deviated in the least from the story told in his confession and upon the witness stand.

LaDuke was generally known at Woodburn and Maysville as "Frenchy" and his arrest near Cadillac three years ago resulted in the solving of a mystery that had surrounded the murder of the town marshal for several months.

Cases Are Disposed Of.

Under an arrangement between State's Attorney Albert E. Thomas, who wanted to save the expense of two long trials, and Judge R. K. Erwin, who made an earnest effort to defeat the successful prosecution of his clients, Herman Miller will remain at the Michigan City prison under his last conviction of manslaughter, which carried a sentence of from two to twenty-one years; John Stout entered a plea of guilty to the same charge and took the same sentence and John Baker, convicted of manslaughter at Huntington, was released.

This is the end of the cases and the

TOO MANY IDLE IN STEEL TOWN NOW

Syrians Bound for Gary to Be Deported from Philadelphia at Once.

HAD JUST ARRIVED

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—Acting upon a decision of Judge McPherson in the United States district court, immigration officials today are preparing to deport eleven Servians who arrived in this port bound for Gary, Ind., where they intended to seek work in the steel mills. The immigration officials decided to deport the Servians on the ground that they might become public charges.

The officials claimed that an investigation of labor conditions at Gary showed that more than a thousand men were out of employment at that place. Counsel for the Servians instituted proceedings for their release, but Judge McPherson in his decision upheld the ruling of the immigration officials.

TRACTION TO REORGANIZE

Indianapolis Hears It Will Become an $8,000,000 Corporation.

MEETING HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Local Officials Say They Cannot Talk in Advance of Action.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Arrangements are being made to reorganize the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company as an $8,000,000 corporation at a meeting of the stockholders at Fort Wayne February 11. The new corporation probably will be known as the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana company.

Beyond the statement that more money is needed in the business and that the effort is being made to obtain it, local officials of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company say they are not in position to give out any statement as to the probable outcome of a meeting of stockholders of the company, which has been called for this city next Saturday afternoon.

Rumors of a possible sale of the big traction company to a syndicate of New York and Boston capitalists have gained circulation in financial circles at Indianapolis, but directors of the company decline to discuss them or to hazard a prediction of the action that is likely to be taken at the meeting. There is a belief in some quarters that the result will be merely the allying of new financial interests with the company that will increase its resources and enable it to develop the property. It is stated, however, that the move in any event will result in strengthening the big enterprise and enabling it to meet the demands incident to its development.

Proxies for the meeting on Saturday are being taken in the names of four of the present directors of the company, and it is expected that they will meet representatives of the new interests which have the step in view. At frequent intervals during the past few months eastern capitalists have been making inspections of the property, both its city lines and the interurban system.

Some of the promoters of this concern were connected formerly with the Collins Wireless Telephone and Telegraph company and are reported to have opened business in the south when they suspected that the postal authorities were after the latter companies for misusing the mails.

D. Tillo, William Walsh and Herman Hobrock.

CITY WILL PLAN A LIGHT SYSTEM

Sample Posts to Be Asked for and Erected on Berry Street.

CITY HALL NOTES

Members of the Civic Improvement association and the commercial bodies interested in city beautification will be called together tomorrow evening by Mayor Jesse Grice and he will submit a plan under which he hopes to be able to secure the consent of the manufacturers to erect a line of sample lights on Berry street between Clinton and Calhoun.

At the same time the mayor and the members of his board of public works will give the results of their investigations into the lighting scheme and it is hoped that arrangements can be taken up in a short time to place lights on the down town streets.

The city has ducts on the square upon which the lights are to be placed if the arrangements can be made. Connections will have to be made no matter what system is adopted and the expense of seeing a number of lights in operation will be nominal.

Appointments to Be Made.

Mayor Grice has announced that he will select three citizens to serve on the Civic Improvement association in conjunction with the city engineer and board of park commissioners to take up the work on the river banks.

President Louis S. C. Schroeder stated that he will at the next meeting of the city council name three members of the council to act on the commission and the body will be organized shortly so that plans can be made for taking up the work.

City Hall Notes.

Mayor Grice had a conference arranged for this afternoon with Dr. M. F. Porter and Charles Lane, who want the Van Buren street circus lot for playgrounds.

The test of the new unit at the electric light station is being made by the Fort Wayne Electric works.

SCHEDULE ABOUT THE SAME THING

Fort Wayne Will Open at Wheeling and Play Here May 4.

OPEN UP IN SOUTH

THE OPENING SCHEDULE.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 7.—The Central league magnates closed their schedule session at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and selected the 140 game schedule of J. W. Adams, of South Bend. The opening dates are as follows:

April 26.—Grand Rapide at Evansville; South Bend at Terre Haute; Fort Wayne at Wheeling; Dayton at Zanesville

May 4—Evansville at Dayton; Terre Haute at Fort Wayne; Zanesville at Grand Rapids; Wheeling at South Bend.

The closing dates are:

Sept. 10—Grand Rapids at Dayton, (2 games); Zanesville at Terre Haute, (2 games); Wheeling at Evansville, (2 games); South Bend at Fort Wayne.

The holiday dates are:

May 30—Fort Wayne at Dayton; Terre Haute at Evansville; Wheeling at Zanesville; South Bend at Grand Rapids.

July 4—South Bend at Grand Rapids; Evansville at Terre Haute; Dayton at Fort Wayne; Zanesville at Wheeling.

September 4—Fort Wayne at Dayton; Evansville at Terre Haute; Zanesville at Wheeling; Grand Rapids at South Bend.

The southern opening was decided upon after an hour and a half of wrangling. The highest mileage is that of Grand Rapids, 6,212 miles; the lowest that of Dayton, 4,899; average mileage, 5,630.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 7.—No departure was made from the usual manner of scheduling the Central league games for 1911 and although there was a movement on foot to switch the opening games to the north end of the circuit it was not a very determined battle from any point except Dayton, and it did not succeed.

Under a schedule adopted after a long session last night and about two hours of hard work this morning Fort Wayne will open at Wheeling on April 26, Dayton will play at Zanesville, Grand Rapids at Evansville and South Bend at Terre Haute. This has been the system of pairing the clubs for the last three years.

The first game at Fort Wayne is scheduled for May 4 and Eddie Wheeler and his band of Hottentots will supply the opposition. A dozen games will be played on the first home stand on the north end. May 31 and August 1 are the open dates in the schedule and the holiday dates are split after the same old fashion.

Dayton will play in Fort Wayne on the Fourth of July and Fort Wayne will play on the Vets' lot on Decoration day and Labor day. The old pairings have been adhered to. Grand Rapids and South Bend, Zanesville and Wheeling and Terre Haute and Evansville are booked to play together on all the holidays.

Looks Like Syndicate Again.

Although the sale of the Grand Rapids team to Dr. Harley Parker was on the surface an elimination of syndicate ball from the league it is likely that when the question of mileage comes up South Bend will vote to pool it although the club will lose money by doing so.

If each team pays its own mileage South Bend will be better about $50 than by pooling it. On the other hand it will cost Evansville in the neighborhood of $150 not to pool so it looks like Annis has some sort of an understanding with Grant.

With South Bend, Grand Rapids, Evansville, Wheeling and Terre Haute lined up for the pool and Zanesville indifferent there is absolutely no chance for Fort Wayne and Dayton to win out, it means an expense of about $200 to Owner Claude H. Varnell and more to the Dayton owners.

Varnell Didn't Care Much.

Owner Varnell didn't care much whether he opened the season at home or in Wheeling but said if the other magnates wanted to make the change he would not oppose it. No attention was paid to special requests in adopting the schedule and the one giving the teams the best break in mileage was adopted.

Mr. Varnell has had no opportunity to interview Eddie Coffey on the subject of his declared intention to quit the game. He will probably do so before he leaves South Bend tonight. Little time will be given to the $75 scheme evolved by the new Zanesville owners and all of the business of the meeting will have been closed by tonight.

Last night Owner Bert Annis, of the champion South Bend team gave an elaborate dinner to about forty guests at the Oliver hotel. It was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind the league has had. Dr. F. R. Carson presided at the dinner and a number of short talks followed.

JUDGE TOOK ONE CHANCE ON CASE

Assessed Fine of $50 and Costs Against John Pietro.

CITY COURT CASES

Judge J. Frank Mungovan took one shot at John Pietro in the city court today and fined him $50 and costs without hearing any evidence in support of a charge of allowing minors in his saloon. He told Pietro that he might have fined him more or have been satisfied with less if he had heard the testimony, but some of the witnesses are in Sheldon and hard to get into court and the judge just took a chance.

The affidavit sets out that Pietro, who keeps the old Godfrey saloon on the Bluffton road, allowed Joseph Schultz to loiter in the bar room. He asked for a continuance and then changed his mind and plead guilty.

Fined Most of Them.

Seven Syrians were in court on a charge of rioting growing out of the murder here of Solomon Sanwer several years ago and three were fined $25 and costs each, three drew $10 and costs apiece and two were let go. When Sanwer was killed Frank and Kaleel Batros captured Riszk, his murderer, and the other Syrians stored it against them and have given them trouble frequently. Last night they were attacked by a party of seven men and beaten up and affidavits were filed against all of them.

The Other Cases.

Albert McGovern, who has been employed here a short time, was fined $5 and costs for drunkenness. He had in his pocket a letter from his mother in Cleveland asking him to send her some money as she was homeless and penniless. Henry Redding was fined $1 and costs and William Mead $1. Ed Young and James Casler were fined for loitering. All of these prisoners were in one party and all are trumps.

NEWS SCRIBE IS AGAIN WITNESS

Danville Grand Jury is on a Hot Trail for Indictments.

SOMEONE HAS LIED

Danville, Ill., Feb. 7.—R. H. Frankeberger, newspaper reporter, who was before the grand jury two weeks ago with reference to the alleged confession made by City Attorney Jones, was called before the body again this morning and questioned at some length. It is stated that Frankeberger was asked where he was on the day of the last "wet" and "dry" election. According to this informant he replied that he spent a greater part of the day at Grape Creek, about seven miles from the city, where trouble had occurred. It is hinted that perjury indictments may be returned as the result of Frankeberger proving by a member of the grand jury that he was at Grape Creek when it had been told that he was at the Lincoln park precinct during the election and had been driven away from it.

Frankeberger this morning made the statement that his father-in-law, H. M. Martin, who conducts a meat market in the northwestern part of the city, is being boycotted by some of his customers because of activity he has displayed in this investigation.

The grand jury is expected to return some indictments this afternoon. The statement was made this morning that if the jury could find time during the day to vote on those already drawn they would be brought into court during the afternoon.

WILL CELEBRATE STATE CENTENARY

Bill for Observance of Hundredth Anniversary of Statehood.

THE HOOSIER SOLONS

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Four bills were passed in the senate of the Indiana legislature this morning, the one of chief interest to the state being the Stotzenburg bill looking to the celebration of the centennial of Indiana's entrance into the union.

In the house Representative Veach, of Clay county, tossed among the members the bone of contention when he sought, but without success, to increase the pay of the state librarian. The attempt was made through the medium of an amendment proposed for the regular appropriations bill, which was under consideration in committee of the whole. About half the bill was disposed of, with but one change being made. On the motion of Representative Finley the provision of $2,400 as salary of a high school inspector, together with $700 traveling expenses, was killed, but not without opposition.

Fights for Salary Bill.

Representative Veach fought hard for increase in the pay of State Librarian Brown, first asking $2,800, a raise of $1,600. In the face of pronounced opposition, which voted down his amendment, Representative Veach appeared again with an amendment making the salary $2,400.

There was a running fire of argument and debate and Mr. Veach's chief supporter being Representative Wasmuth. Mr. Wasmuth charged the majority members who had failed to rally around Mr. Veach with playing politics. Representative Troyer declared that Indiana was losing and had lost its best blood by its "niggardly policy" affecting educational and kindred institutions. Representative Keegan said $1,800 was not a salary in keeping with the dignity and the atmosphere of the high position of state librarian—that it hardly afforded a decent living. Representative McGinnis called the attempt to increase the pay of the librarian another cropping out of the "salary grab" and opposed it on general principles.

No Benefit for Incumbent.

Representative Butcher declared he was "eternally opposed" to increasing the salary of any office for the benefit of the incumbent, who had run for office knowing what its pay and emoluments were. "I have no patience," said Mr. Butcher, "with these fellows, who once having obtained office, come around here pulling the coat tails of the members of the legislature for more pay."

Representative Bedgood sought an increase in the maintenance appropriation for Purdue university—asking for $80,000 instead of $32,000 set forth in the bill, but failed. Just before adjournment Representative Finley sought reconsideration of the vote, but without success. Representative Bedgood declared his aim was to keep the appropriation for Purdue on a par with that for Indiana university, which had been given an increase of $17,500.

The committee of the whole rose at noon and will reconvene at 2 o'clock.

The Centennial Bill.

The passage of the centennial bill in the senate was attended by a sharp debate, in which Senators Royse and Hallock object to giving a commission power to bind the state for the purchase of grounds for a permanent building, as provided by the bill, but the objections did not prevail. Senator Halleck asserted that if certain of the state officials would cease to make the state house living quarters there would be no need for new buildings.

The bill passed by a vote of 37 to 6 and provides for the appointment of a commission to arrange for the purchase of ground and the erection of a permanent state building to be dedicated in 1916 in honor of the state having a centennial of Indiana.

Hypnotist Bill.

The Lamont bill prohibiting exhibitions of hypnotism, as amended by Senator Curtis to apply also to attempts at hypnotism, passed by a vote of 37 to 1. Senator Edgar Durre, of Evansville, dissenting. As the measure now stands it would not prevent the application of hypnotics in the practice of medicine, as an attempt to strike at private hypnotism was withdrawn after opposition was raised.

The Royse bill legalizing the acts of township trustees and advisory boards to permit the payment of school bonds out of the general fund was passed, and the Harlan bill, providing a special levy in Indianapolis for the Winona technical institute, carried.

The senate committee on education has prepared a divided report on the Beal bill for the election of the school trustees of Terre Haute by popular vote. The majority will advise the passage of the bill and the minority report, signed by Senator Kane, will recommend indefinite postponement. An attempt will be made to get action on the reports this afternoon.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—Senator B. S. Hunt, of Winchester, a doctor when he is not a solon, has taken up the fight against the divorce evil and has introduced a bill in the senate which he believes will help some in the solution of this knotty social enigma. The bill provides that no divorce granted in another state upon causes originating in Indiana shall be of force and effect in this state. It does not affects suits now pending or heretofore settled, but according to Senator Hunt, will prevent a man or a woman going to Reno, Nevada, or some other point where the laws are lax, there to obtain a divorce which could not have been obtained here and return to marry another "life partner."

A divorce, however, granted under the laws of other states, in cases where the causes originated in that state, shall be binding on persons coming later to Indiana.

To Allow Fish Spearing.

The fish spear and the seine will not down at the present session of the legislature. At least Senator Will A. Yarling, of Shelbyville, has done his utmost to restore them to their one time importance among the Isaac Waltons of the state. One bill introduced to permit seining has been defeated in the senate but the present measure would allow the use of nets only in the rivers of the state from July 1 to November 1 upon payment of a $5 license fee. The consent of the land owner must be obtained and all species of bass and other game fish shall be returned to the streams.

The meshes of the net shall not be less than an inch and a half square. Owners of nets other than as provided in the bill shall be liable to a fine of from $5 to $200 and imprisonment in the county jail for any determinate period. It is provided that spearing may be done in the day time but no dates mentioned and that the spearing may be done without a license.

Church a Bower of Blooms.

The church itself is redolent with the perfumes of rare flowers. Green and white is the color scheme, although just what flowers will perfect it, the style and texture of the bride's wedding gown and the gowns of her attendants were not made public until the church doors were thrown open.

Miss Edith Gould, sister of the bride, is maid of honor. The bridesmaids are the Misses Hope Hamilton, Beatrice Claflin, Hannah Randolph, of Philadelphia; Louise Cromwell, of Washington, and Allison Pierce, of Oyster Bay. Two little nephews of the bridegroom, Marcus and Graham Beresford, as pages, will carry the train of the bride's gown. Two choirs had been employed to sing. The Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of the church and Bishop David H. Greer officiated.

The couple will sail shortly for Egypt, where they will remain until leaving for the coronation.

Guard Against Mob.

That there might be no repetiton of the scenes of the wedding of Miss Marjorie Gould and Anthony Drexel, Jr., last year, when hundreds of curiosity seekers almost mobbed the bridal couple, George J. Gould had arranged for ample police protection. It is said that Lord Decies has received many threatening letters, which the English peer, however, takes as a joke. Hundreds of police and plain clothes men have been detailed to keep the crowd of sight-seers from the church and Gould home and prevent any unfortunate incident.

MAY BREAK ALBANY DEADLOCK.

Tammany and Insurgent Legislators to Hold Conference.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7.—A conference between the organization democrats and the "insurgents" will be held at 9:30 tomorrow morning in the assembly parlor to discuss the senatorial situation.

Announcement of the conference was made in both the senate and assembly today after the 18th joint ballot had been taken with no change in the relative strength of the candidates.

President Protem Wagner, of the senate, seemed optimistic when seen after the session. "It looks as if we were going to get together at last," he said.

Asked of Mr. Murphy and Mr. Sheehan had been consulted, he replied:

"Oh yes, all the party leaders have been consulted and have recommended this movement."

NO HOPE FOR THAW.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Harry Thaw's appeal from the decison of the appellate division adverse to his contention that he is being illegally detained in the state hospital for the insane at Matteawan has been dismissed by the court of appeals. This practically sweeps away his last hope for release.

C. B. Barnett returned Monday night from a trip to West Baden springs.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE AFTER HIS ARREST

Whitley County Fugitive Made Unsuccessful Break for Liberty at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 7.—Burt Weston, the young man who was wanted on a serious charge in Columbit City, was caught in Huntington Sunday by Deputy Chris Bischoff. The young man denied that he was the fellow wanted at Columbia City, but admitted that his name was Weston. He said that the investigation was his brother and that he was at that time hunting the fugitive.

Deputy Bischoff asked him to accompany him to the office of Mayor Milo Feightner, to which Weston agreed. They did not find Mr. Feightner, so the couple started for the police station. As Weston and Bischoff were turning the corner of Market and Jefferson streets, Weston suddently made a break for liberty, but the officer gave pursuit and, with the assistance of two men on Market street, toward whom the fugitive was running, the fellow was caught.

As there are several people in this city who know Weston it was not hard to prove who he really was, so there was nothing to do but notify the Whitley authorities and he was taken to Columbia City. His trial will be held there this week.

ARCHITECTS' PLANS ARE NEARLY READY

Specifications for DeKalb's New Courthouse Will Be Sumitted Monday.

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 7.—Next Monday the county commissioners expect the architects, Mahurin & Mahurin, of Fort Wayne, to have the new court house plans here and submit them for final O. K. This was the time fixed several weeks ago and the board is advised that the architects are up with the schedule and are now going over the details very closely to see that the plans are all right.

The board is satisfied that the Fort Wayne architects are putting forth their very best efforts to submit plans and specifications that will withstand objections. The board has become convinced that the long period of time spent in preparing the plans and specifications will prove time well spent.

It will soon be up to the board to accept or reject the plans. It will soon be for the three representatives of the people of DeKalb county to say whether or not the plans are well drawn and the specifications carefully prepared. How long it will take to reach that conclusion is not known. It is hoped, however, that the new building will be well under way this year and that it will be under roof before next winter begins.

RELATIVES FEAR FOUL PLAY.

Believe Missing Laporte County Farmer Was Killed by Robbers.

Laporte, Ind., Feb. 7.—James Smith, a wealthy farmer living in the northern part of this county, has been missing for two weeks and his relatives fear he has been foully dealt with. Smith entered into negotiations with a Chicago man for the sale of his property and the day was appointed on which the deal was to be closed and the money paid over. Smith left for Michigan City to meet the Chicago man, but left his money, $3,000, in the bank. It is the theory of Smith's relatives that some person or persons knowing of the deal about to be consummated had reason to believe that he had drawn a large sum from the bank and that he was murdered for the money which he was believed to have on his person.

Ligonier Parties Seeking Location at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 7.—The Banta & Bender Refrigerator company, which now is located at Ligonier, is trying to get a location in this city. Letters were sent to the prominent members of the boom committee and Saturday Mr. Banta came to this city to investigate the chances of moving the plant from Ligonier to this city. He was shown a good site for the factory by C. B. Williams, but will not submit a proposition to the local committee until he has consulted the other members of the firm. The factory has a large capacity for workmen and nearly fifty families would be moved here if a change is made. The company is incorporated at $100,000.

Good Liver Remedy Free

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloaty feeling after eating, if you belch, if your skin is yellowish you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this, and one highly recommended by those who have used it, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Plainview, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from griping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

ON THE FOURTH OF MARCH

Portland Will Hold Option Election—Many Sign Petition

Portland, Ind., Feb. 7.—On Saturday, March 4th, the voters of Portland will voice their sentiment by ballot relative to legalizing the sale of intoxicating liquor in this city as a beverage. This was decided Monday by the board of commissioners, acting on petition filed late Saturday night. An election will also be held in Bearcreek township on March 4th, to determine the same question. Both petitions were filed under the provisions of the new Proctor-Keeney law.

The petitions asking the commissioners to call the election bear more than the required number of signatures of voters. The one filed by the citizens of Portland contains a total or 324 names, while a total of 242 would have been sufficient. The one filed by Bearcreek township voters bears a total of 149 names, while 86 would have been all that was necessary.

SAYS RESULT IS ONLY A SYMPTOM

Rev. J. F. Vichert Discuses Recent Municipal Disclosures.

SHOULD GO DEEPER

Preaching from the theme, "The City's Ugliness," and discussing the recent disclosures in the police department, Rev. J. F. Vichert at the First Baptist church Sunday evening contended that the grand jury dealt only with symptoms—that any real reformation must go deeper than that; it must be comprehensive enough to include all those who have had a share directly or directly in making civic and municipal corruption possible.

Rev. Mr. Vichert used as his text Jonah 1.: 2—"Now the word of Jehovah came unto Jonah, the son of Amittai, saying, arise, go to Ninevah, that great city, and cry out against it; for their wickedness is come up before me. In part Rev. Dr. Vichert said:

"In our own city wickedness has been uncovered recently. There is nothing new, nor unusual nor startling about that. In every city that the sun ever shone upon iniquities have multiplied themselves. Sometimes they are dragged out into the light of common day, and always they are naked and open unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do. It is that wickedness, so common a feature of city life, so flagrant in its expression, that constitutes a city's ugliness. We use sometimes a phrase which is forceful and true in its suggestion, 'ugly as sin.' That is the hideous disfigurement, that the mortal blemish, that the deep dyed stain, which converts into ugliness what might otherwise be fair and beautiful.

"The revelations which have been made here recently are calculated to disturb our equanimity. I trust that you do not view them with indifference. You know as well as I that they bring reproach upon the name of the city. More serious still they indicate conditions which are hurtful and fatal to all true civic welfare and beauty.

"In discussing them I wish to keep in mind one cardinal principle. 'Beauty is only skin deep,' we say. That is not true. Neither beauty nor ugliness are matters of the skin. They arise in the blood, in the habitual temper of mind, in the life itself. The exposures that have been made have simply uncovered some symptoms which are indicative of disease, of corruption in the main currents of the city's life. In what I have to say I wish to deal with the disease rather than with the symptoms; with the evil root rather than with the baneful fruits which sometimes drop from the tree.

Should Go Deeper.

"Let me show you first then what I mean by saying that the work of the grand jury has disclosed symptoms only. They have dragged into publicity a few unfortunate women. That may be a necessary proceeding, but why are these women here at all? Surely only because it pays them to be here. Somebody makes it profitable for them to stay. I should like to see a grand jury investigation some time which would drag out into the light every man who is a sharer in the sin of these women. It might break up some families, it might besmirch some fair reputations, it might hurl into the dust some apparent models of respectability, but in the name of justice it ought to be done. Every man who meets these women is a lawbreaker as much as they, and should face the penalty. Probably the thing I suggest never will be done here, and we shall continue to visit punishment upon our Magdalenes while the men go free, but 'Tis not so above. There is no shuffling,' and at the bar of God every man must answer for his sin.

Who Had Share in It?

"Again, our grand jury has indicted certain persons for tendering bribes, and certain officers for receiving them. I have no word of defense for those thus accused. If they are guilty they must accept the consequences, but again I say the investigation does not go deep enough. Who bought the watches and diamonds which have figured in these transactions? You can easily name certain individuals and say, 'they bought them.' But where did they get the money? It must occur to you that they do a very profitable business. They must receive a generous measure of support. They must have a very considerable number of patrons. Who bought the watches and the diamonds? I answer, every man who in any way had any share in the infamous business which thus seeks protection. Every man who contributed one cent towards the profits out of which bribes were bought helped to buy those watches and diamonds. Your grand jury investigation, if it is to be thorough and complete, must sweep in every last man who participated in any way in the evil, the leaders of which we have pilloried.

Dealt Only With Symptoms.

"You see then what I mean by my statement that the grand jury has dealt only with symptoms. Now a doctor considers the symptoms in order that he may get at the disease, and there is little use in our studying symptoms if we go no further. We can have a little sensation in our newspapers, we can shake our heads sadly, we can look at the men who have been named and say 'What sinners they are!' But in all that there is no profit and no virtue, unless we recognize that there is flowing in our city an evil current, on the surface of which these things lie. The saloons and the brothels lift up their heads and flourish in our midst because there is a constituency here which wants them, and which makes it profitable for them to stay here. How extensive that constituency is I have no means of knowing, but the number of institutions which it supports indicates that it has grown to ample proportions.

Two Things to Blame.

"Two things, as I see, create this constituency. The lust for pleasure and the lust for gold. The desire for pleasure is natural and legitimate, but subject to strange perversions. There are pleasures which are innocent and pure, and which mean recreation and health for body, mind and soul. But as you know men are not always content with these, and the devil comes to their assistance in the city by making every provision for the lust of flesh, and the lust of the eye, and the pride of life. Why a man should turn from a clear sparkling fountain to drink of a foul and muddy pool we may not be able to explain. Some children will eat dirt, and some men attempt to satisfy their desire for recreation and pleasure with filth and poison. A queer notion some men have of what constitutes a good time. A few good fellows get together to enjoy themselves. Their idea of a good time is to drift from saloon to saloon until their heads are muddled, and their feet unsteady, and then to stagger off home where they sleep off their stupor, to awaken feeling sodden and miserable. That seems a queer idea of a good time but enough people entertain that idea to make saloon keeping a profitable business, have suggested that as an illustration. There is no need to parade here all the vicious things to which men resort in their pursuit of what they deem enjoyment. Enough to say that their final result is pain, and utter ruin of body, mind and soul.

"The lust for gold takes advantage of the lust for pleasure and fattens on it. Men will do anything for money. 'The love of money is the root of all evil.' There are men who for money will lie in wait for blood. There are men who for money will weave nets for their victims as the spider spins its web for the fly. Here is the crowd lusting for pleasure, and there are the men lusting for gold ready to provide everything that the ingenuity of satan can suggest. Thus fed by the love of pleasure, and the love of gold, there rolls through our city this slimy current, far more pernicious and hurtful to the city's beauty and the city's health, than an open sewer flowing down the center of the street.

In every HYOMEI outfit which is sold by Meyer Bros. Co. and druggists everywhere there is a little bottle of antiseptic liquid that will kill catarrh germs.

Pour a few drops of this liquid into the little hard rubber inhaler which comes with the outfit and breathe this now antiseptic vaporized air over the membrane of the nose and throat infested with catarrh germs.

It's pleasant, soothing and healing is this vaporized air and it is really the only remedy known that can reach and kill catarrh germs. Complete outfit $1.00 at Meyer Bros. Co. and druggists everywhere. It is guaranteed.

FELL DEAD IN HIS BARN.

Warsaw, Ind., Feb. 7.—Lewis Clipp, about 70 years of age, dropped dead in his barn at Milford, his death being due to apoplexy. His death was not known until the members of the family, thinking he was staying too long at the barn, went in search of him and found his lifeless body. He was a member of the 13th Ohio cavalry during the civil war and was quite well known in the northern part of the county. He leaves a wife, one son and two daughters.

INDIANA FOR THE TRADE TREATY.

The Indiana members of congress are a unit for upholding the president's agreement with Canada. This was made known in a caucus of the house democrats to take action upon the reciprocity treaty. The Indiana members are representing Indiana sentiment. The people of this state stand for a freer trade and relief from the burdens of living. The trade agreement with Canada will benefit them. It will open the way to other reciprocity agreements that will confer substantial benefits on the people of Indiana and of the entire country, and give impetus to the general purpose that downward revision of the tariff must come and come soon.

President Taft's trade agreement with Canada is one of the best acts that will mark his administration. In seeking to establish a neighborly and mutually beneficial state of commerce with Canada, the president has the opposition of his own party in congress to overcome. He can get the treaty made a law only by the aid of the democrats. It now looks as though he will be able to command almost unanimous democratic support, and that, with the progressive republican support he should get, ought to vouchsafe the treaty. And if this congress shall fail to make the reciprocity agreement the law, the next congress, in which an overwhelmingly democratic house and a senate with many new democrats present and many gnarled and knotty reactionaries missing, will not fail to make law of it.

The Indiana delegation in the present congress, eleven democrats and two republicans, is unanimous for the treaty. Indiana will have her share of the honor and credit in the endeavor to give common sense and the general welfare of the country, as these are determined by trade establishments and conventions with other lands, the right of way.

THE REAPPORTIONMENT.

The democratic plans for redistricting Indiana pursuant to necessity for a congressional reapportionment will make this district the Eleventh instead of the Twelfth and will add Kosciusko to the six counties of which the district is now comprised.

It seems to be assumed by the democrats framing the bill that the Twelfth district is so solidly and reliably democratic that the big republican majority of Kosciusko can be hooked on without peril to the democratic prospect. The gentlemen will do well to examine the records.

Since 1886, the district has four times sent republicans to congress. That is to say that in thirteen congressional elections the democrats have carried nine. Some of these nine were won by pluralities so narrow that Kosciusko's 1,000 republican majority would have wiped them out.

If the democracy of the Twelfth district is going to keep all the time up to the present form Kosciusko county's big republican vote can be carried; but in those days of adversity, of which the democratic party has seen many, the big county to the west will be a pretty stiff drag.

Indiana is obliged, under the congressional reapportionment law congress seems certain to pass, to eliminate a district. This will compel a readjustment of districts throughout the state, and it appears big Kosciusko, in area second only to Allen in all the counties of Indiana, is to come over and help us make up the Eleventh district.

It appears to have been proved to the satisfaction of many United States senators that there was a "jackpo" fund in the Illinois legislature and that the men who have figured in the bribery indictments and trials were corruptly paid out of that fund for prescribed acts as members of the legislature. It is not a reasonable presumption that evidence of character more direct and conclusive was adduced by the senate committee than was presented to juries in the trials prosecuted by the state of Illinois. Yet it so far has been impossible to secure any bribery convictions in Illinois. This does not in any wise mean that the senate committee was fooled or that the senators convinced of a "jackpot" fund are mistaken.

Two facts are in sharp relief in the public highways question—the amount of taxes supposed paid is not actually paid and the work expended on the roads in construction and repair in very many if not most cases, is worse than none. What the county loses in the transmission of these road tax accounts from one hand to another, is bad enough, but it is made vastly worse by the fact what part of the taxes finally does reach the roads produces nothing worth while. The government of the United States, through the agricultural department, has been concerning itself for several years with a good roads propaganda and attempting to teach at no direct cost to any community the fundamentals of scientific road building. The state should have some hand in such direction of its highways. Indeed, it is wrong that the state does not. Road building and road work generally should stand for something besides merely working out road taxes.

William F. Sheehan is positive he cannot quit the contest at Albany and break the deadlock without seriously imperilling free institutions, representative government, the integrity of the democratic party and a lot of things like that. Perhaps also it would give conservation of our natural resources a punch in the plexus and tear down the defenses against suffragettes. All things considered, perhaps William should be permitted to save his country if he will promise not to try to do it any more.

Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, the state Jeff Davis comes from, is having renewed troubles and discloses to his confreres in the national house of representatives that the press of the United States is united in stupendous and hellish conspiracy to do him dirt. It's too bad, but perhaps it would help some if Macon should cease the general and futile practice of being an ineffectual minority.

The dispatches from London Monday broke into the cannery to dig out the expression that "the king's speech was colorless." Trust no one had become so reckless as to even suspect his new majesty was going to explode a T. R. brand of special message in parliament.

Champ Clark believes that aeroplanes will minimize war and finally put an end to international conflict. That seems to point the way to the efficacious expenditure of those millions and millions Andy Carnegie is putting up for the world's peace.

Mayor Bussee has declined to run again for his job in Chicago. That may be tough for the big city, but yet is not the hardest blow that has fallen upon Chicago.

"Dry" counties that are automatically going "wet" will in many cases show that they can "come back."

A FALLEN EDEN.

(World's Work.)

There is on earth no land richer than Haiti; none where capital ought to reap swifter or bigger harvests. Ought to. The trouble is with the people, of course. Civilization is practically extinct among a population of 2,000,000 of negroes. There is no sadder sight than a Haitian town, such as Port-au-Prince, Aux Cayes, or Jacmel—clutters of huts amid ruins of palaces, nauseating in lazy degradation, sore with filth. But it is only in these four or five coast towns that there is any knowledge at all of the world, any pretense of order. Evetywhere else are the jungle, the half-naked negro and his women, the opulent land filled with a race of beings little better than beasts, with footpaths for its only highways, with basilisks basking on the displaced stones of its once great public works, and the tropical silence broken rarely, except by the sound of tom-toms summoning to superstitious rites.

Coffee, cotton, cacao, tobacco, pimento, castilloa for rubber, gold, silver, aluminum, copper, mahogany, logwood, bananas—these things are to be found in perfection here. But what avail they, so long as there is no government, no money, no roads, no harbors, no hopes, no ambitions? Some day, perhaps, the people of the United States will appreciate their duty toward this benighted island, appreciate the value of this smutted but most splendid pearl in the Antillean necklace.

SENILE DEBILITY.

(Medical Record.)

I. L. Nascher, New York, says that senile debility cannot be prevented, but its effects can be relieved, the mental attitude improved and a semblance of vigor restored. The cause is waste of muscle, cartilage, bone and nerve tissue consequent on impaired metabolism. That which improves the mental condition and increases hope will improve the debility. When ambition and interest in work are lost, erectness and initiative are also lost. Ageing is in great part due to mental influences. Mental stimulation through physical influence is the natural method of overcoming mental depression. Phosphorus and arsenic are useful drugs for this purpose. Hygienic and dietic measures to lessen the waste are useful. Food should be nutritious and such as to require little digestive effort. Stiffness of the joints is due to hardening of the ligaments and moist heat followed by massage is of temporary benefit. The use of a cane for support in walking, and a comfortable armed rocking chair to support the arms, helps to acquire a better position. True senile dementia due to senile changes in the brain is a progressive enfeeblement, marked improvement follows small doses of morphine. This is only temporary and a habit may be formed.

STERLING MORTON'S WARNING TO SONS.

(New York Evening Post.)

Upon the death of Paul Morton's mother, J. Sterling Morton erected a monument at their home, Arbor lodge, in Nebraska, bearing this inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Caroline Joy Morton, wife of J. Sterling Morton and mother of Joy, Charles, Edward and Paul Morton."

When the monument was erected the father took his four sons to the spot and said: "Your mother is gone, and I don't expect to be able to bring you up as well as she would have done, but if you ever do anything to disgrace her memory I will chisel your name off the tombstone."

SOMETHING OF A SOLOMON.

(Indianapolis Star.)

New York aldermen rejected a hatpin ordinance that was urged upon them. One of them explained his vote on the ground that it would be a physical impossibility to enforce it. "The whole police force and the national guard and all the battleships couldn't do it," he declared. He recommended as a better plan of suppressing the dangerous nuisance that the legislature pass a law forbidding the manufacture of hatpins beyond a prescribed length. Sensible alderman.

CHILD'S HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR

It Was Awful. Cried Continually. Had to Hold and Watch Him to Keep Him from Scratching. Suffering Was Dreadful.

Had not Used Half a Set of Cuticura Remedies Before Head was Clear and Free from Eczema.

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was real young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We had to hold him and watch him [to keep him] from scratching the sore. His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resolvent as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half before the child's head was clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. His head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Utah, Sept. 19, 1910.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp eruptions of young and old, that itch, burn, crust, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, Mass., for free 32-page Cuticura Booklet, a guide to skin and hair health.

AT THE MAJESTIC

A STAGE THRILLER.

"The James Boys in Missouri" Thursday and Friday with Matinees.

Every act of the sensational melodrama, "The James Boys in Missouri," which is to appear at the Majestic Thursday and Friday, daily matinees, is staged with remarkable scenic effect. The play embraces a series of sensational incidents, a pretty love story, and a marvelous stage picture of the Blue Cut train robbery, a full train appearing on the stage in view of the audience. Every portion of the scenery necessary for this elaborate production is carried by the company.

STORY OF A SCENE.

How Amusing Incident in "The Goddess of Liberty" Made its Appearance.

In the last act of "The Goddess of Liberty," the big musical comedy production that Mort H. Singer will offer in this city on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Majestic, there appears a scene between six of the men principals where a poker game is given called "strip poker." To the layman this will be Greek, but to the poker fiend the title is sure to bring a big laugh.

One night during the rehearsals of "The Goddess of Liberty" at the Princess theater, Chicago, Stage Director Ned Wayburn kept the company until an early hour in the morning. After he had dismissed them Johnny Fogarty, who is playing the tough saloon keeper in the play, suggested a little game of poker, so they repaired to Mr. Wayburn's hotel. Six of the male principals of the company "set in" and the stakes began to get higher each moment. From a ten-cent limit it reached the roof and after four hours of diligent playing and just as daylight began to creep under the window blind, it was discovered that Percy Jennings, one of the players had corralled all the funds. As soon as Percy discovered that his fellow players were broke he excused himself and retired. The remaining five still fevered with the bite of the gambling bug, refused to stop and the game started.

"I" bet a collar," said Wayburn.

"I'll see your collar and raise you a pair of shoes," said Johnny Fogarty.

"I'll see your collar and pair of shoes and raise you a dress shirt and a pair of garters," quoth Wayburn.

Right here we refuse to quote more of the expressions, but we can merely tell you that Johnnie went home in a bath robe that he borrowed from Wayburn and had to stand off the taxi driver until the next day. Thus "strip poker" became a part of "The Goddess of Liberty" and was the hit of the performance. Just wait till you see it.

The Adventures of Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

The Demand of the Double Four

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

Antoine, white with fear, poured himself out a liqueur of brandy.

"Well, well," he said, "what must be done, then! Come!"

He led the way out into that smelly network of passages, up the stairs to the first floor. Room after room he threw open and begged John Dory to examine. Some of them were garishly furnished, with gilt mirrors, cheap lace curtains tied back with blue ribbons. Others were dark, miserable holes, into which the fresh air seemed never to have penetrated. On the third floor they reached the little sitting-room, which bore more traces of occupation than some of the rooms below. Antoine would have passed on, but John Dory stopped him.

"There is a door there," he said. "We will try that."

"It is the sick waiter who lies within," Antoine protested. "Monsieur can hear him groan."

There was, indeed, something which sounded like a groan to be heard, but John Dory was obstinate.

"If he is so ill," he demanded, "how is he able to lock the door on the inside? Monsieur Antoine, that door must be opened."

Antoine knocked at it softly.

"François," he said, "there is another doctor here who would see you. Let us in."

There was no answer. Antoine turned to his companion with a little shrug of the shoulders, as one who would say—"I have done my best. What would you have?"

John Dory put his shoulder to the door.

"Listen," he shouted through the keyhole, "Mr. [illegible] Walter, or whoever you are, if you do not unlock this door, I am coming in!"

"I have no key," said a faint voice. "I am locked in. Please break open the door."

"But that is not the voice of François!" Antoine exclaimed, in amazement.

"We'll soon see who it is," John Dory answered.

He charged at the door fiercely. At the third assault it gave way. They found themselves in a small back bedroom, and stretched on the floor, very pale, and apparently only half-conscious, lay Peter Ruff. There was a strong smell of chloroform about. John Dory threw open the window. His fingers trembled a little. It was like Fate—this! At the end of every unsuccessful effort there was this man—Peter Ruff!

"What the devil are you doing here?" he asked.

Peter Ruff groaned.

"Help me up," he begged, "and give me a little brandy."

Antoine set him in an easy-chair and rang the bell furiously.

"It will come directly!" he exclaimed. "But who are you?"

Peter Ruff waited for the brandy. When he had sipped it, he drew a little breath as though of relief.

"I heard," he said, speaking still with an evident effort, "that Lemaitre was here. I had secret information. I thought at first that I would let you know—I sent you a note early this morning. Afterwards, I discovered that there was a reward, and I determined to track him down myself. He was in here hiding as a sick waiter. I do not think," Peter Ruff added, "that Monsieur Antoine had any idea. I presented myself as representing a charitable society, and I was shown here to visit him. He was too clever, though, was Jean Lemaitre—too quick for me."

"You were a fool to come alone!" John Dory said. "Don't you know the man's record? How long ago did he leave?"

"About ten minutes," Peter Ruff answered. "You must have missed him somewhere as you came up. I crawled to the window and I watched him go. He left the restaurant by the side entrance, and took a taxicab at the corner there. It went northward toward New Oxford Street."

John Dory turned on his heel—they heard him descending the stairs. Peter Ruff rose to his feet.

"I am afraid," he said, as he plunged his head into a basin of water, and came into the middle of the room rubbing it vigorously with a small towel, "I am afraid that our friend John Dory will get to dislike me soon! He passed out unnoticed, eh, Antoine?"

Antoine's face wore a look of great relief.

"There was not a soul who looked," he said. "We passed under the nose of the gentleman from Scotland Yard. He sat there reading his paper; and he had no idea. I watched Jean step into the motor. Even by now he is well on his way southwards. Twice he changes from motor to train, and back. They will never trace him."

Peter Ruff, who was looking amazingly better, sipped a further glass of liqueur. Together he and Antoine descended to the street.

"Mind," Peter Ruff whispered, "I consider that accounts are squared between me and 'Double Four' now. Let them know that. This sort of thing isn't in my line."

"For an amateur," Antoine said, bowing low, "Monsieur commands my heartfelt congratulations!"

Place an aluminum utensil, empty, over a fire and when utensil has become heated throughout, throw into it a pint of ice-water. You will find the utensil unaffected.

That's one reason why "Wear-Ever" ware lasts a generation. But there are other good reasons.

Each "Wear-Ever" utensil is made from thick, hard sheet-aluminum, 99% pure, without joints, seams or soldered parts. No coating to peel, crack or blister. Cannot rust, cannot form poisonous compounds with fruit acids or foods.

Aluminum is a better distributor of heat and retains heat longer than other materials of which cooking utensils are made. Less fire therefore is needed. In fact, by saving 5 minutes in cooking each meal, you can save 90 hours on your fuel bill for the year.

"Wear-Ever" ware saves you food too. Aluminum utensils are less liable to scorch food than others. And even if you let them boil dry "Wear-Ever" utensils can be cleaned without difficulty and will be found uninjured.

Figure then what "Wear-Ever" ware will save you in fuel, food, trouble, and expense for continually replacing worn out cooking utensils.

Replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear-Ever."

DECATUR LINE IS LAST TO ARRIVE

Interurban Cars Were Operated Only to the City Limits.

NEAR NORMAL AGAIN

With the exception of the Decatur line, which up to noon today had been able to operate only from the Adams county capital to the Fort Wayne city limits, and the South Calhoun street short line, car service both city and interurban in Fort Wayne had gotten back to a normal basis following the heavy snowstorm Sunday night which hampered the interurbans and put the city system practically out of commission for the time.

Officials of the Decatur line expressed the belief that before night the cars would be able to get down into the city. Traction men say the storm was almost without precedent in character. When the snow plows and sweepers were called into commission Sunday evening the wind sent the drifting snow over the tracks as rapidly as they were cleared, and headway against the storm was impossible. Then the sleety rain which fell Monday morning covered the snow with a frozen glare that rendered the sweepers powerless. Big cars were used in the attempt to break down the snow barriers, and when this failed forces of men with shovels were sent against them. It was necessary to use the shovels in clearing the tracks over a large section of South Broadway.

In a long depression in Calhoun street south of Pontiac the snow piled up to a greater depth than elsewhere, and it is this feature that up to noon today had made it impossible to operate the short line car on South Calhoun street or to enable the incoming Decatur interurban to reach the down town districts. Passengers were given transfers and after a walk down to Pontiac street took the city cars down town, while southbound passengers took the city lines to Pontiac street and walked to the interurban car some blocks away.

The cars on the remainder of the city lines were in regular operation early Monday evening.

SEEKING LOWER EXPRESS RATES

Retail Merchants Would Extend Power of Rail Commission.

OTHER MATTERS UP

Believing that, owing to the possibility of the creation of the parcels post, there exists a splendid opportunity to secure a reduction of express rates, the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association on Monday evening directed Attorney H. L. Somers to prepare a measure to be introduced in the present legislature. The bill will seek to extend the powers of the state railroad commission so that it may deal with the question of express rates.

Attorney Somers went to Indianapolis today to look into the status of the Spencer bill, a personal property measure which is being opposed by merchants.

Chairman G. M. Haffner, of the local delegation, submitted to the meeting a report of the state convention at Anderson. It was heard with interest and a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Haffner and the delegates.

ECKERT WILL CONTEST OPENS.

Man Who Drew Document Testifies There Was No Undue Influence.

New York, Feb. 7.—Circumstances under which Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, former president of the Western Union Telegraph company, signed the will which his elder son, ames Clendenin Eckert, is contesting, were related yesterday in surrogate's court at the opening of the will contest trial.

The contestant claims his father was of unsound mind when he made the will now offered for probate, which cut off the elder son with $50,000 and a life interest in $100,000, and left practically the entire residue of the estate, said to be valued at $3,000,000, to his second son, Thomas T. Eckert, jr.

It is alleged that General Eckert's signature to the will was obtained by fraud and undue influence, exercised by Thomas T. Eckert, jr., and R. C. Page, General Eckert's secretary.

Thomas C. Ennever, who drew the will, testified yesterday that neither Thomas T. Eckert, jr., nor R. C. Page was present when the will was signed and that to the best of his belief the general was of sound mind and free from restraint.

NITRO-GLYCERIN MAGAZINE GOES

Nine Hundred Quarts of the Stuff Explode Near Montpelier.

NO DEAD KNOWN OF

Montpelier, Ind., Feb. 7.—For many miles around windows were broken and about $3,000 damage was done in this city early today, when the nitro glycerine magazine on the Spaulding farm, a mile west of Montepelier, exploded.

Nothing was left of the magazine and it is not known if any lives were lost.

It is believed that the explosion may have been caused by yeggyman trying to steal a supply of nitro glycerine for burglary purposes.

There were about nine hundred quarts of nitro-glycerin stored in the magazine and the detonation when it exploded was terrific.

Buildings in this city were convulsed as by an earthquake and scores of large plate glass panes were shattered and smaller windows by hundreds were splintered. No serious damage is reported aside from this, save on the site of the magazine, where a tremendous hole was turn in the ground.

The shock was felt at Hartford City, where some glass is reported to have been broken, and at Bluffton, and in many smaller places nearer by.

While it is thought no one was killed, the theory that yeggman bent on burglarizing the place caused the explosion, must presuppose that someone was blown literally out of existence. No trace of any humen remains, however, has been found.

A more plausible theory is that the banks of the stream on which the magazine was situated were washed away, allowing the magazine to settle with enough suddenness to cause a shock sufficient to explode the sensitive glycerine.

The magazine and store of glycerine belonged to the Dupont Powder company.

KOSCIUSKO TO THIS DISTRICT

the "pocket" to number the counties the First district be located at the northwest corner of the state and the numbering proceed across the state and south.

In the elimination of a district the excess territory is practically absorbed south of a median line across the state from east to west, including the division of Marion county. This division was provided for on account of the fact that even the district as it is proposed will show a larger population than the ratio forming the basis of the computation.

Too Poor to Run for Congress.

The congressional aspirations of Senator Carleton have been suggested as a reason for the incorporation of the heavy democratic county of Dubois into the First district, but when the subject was broached to him after the committee meeting he stated that he was too poor to make the race and that the including of Dubois and Perry counties in the First district was solely for the purpose of helping the First to be reasonably democratic.

The First district will now be composed of the counties of Posey, Gibson, Pike, Vanderburg, Warrick, Spencer, Dubois and Perry, the latter two being taken from the Third.

The present second will contain Sullivan, Knox, Daviess, Green, Owen, Monroe, Lawrence and Martin, and in addition, Brown from the Fourth district.

Changes in Third, Fourth and Fifth.

What is now the Third will be extended up the Ohio river and north, taking in the counties of Jackson, Jennings, Bartholomew and Jefferson from the Fourth and Decatur from the Sixth in addition to Crawford, Orange, Harrison, Washington, Floyd, Clark and Scott, now in the Third.

The Fourth district is practically eliminated, the counties of Switzerland, Ohio, Dearborn and Ripley of the old Fourth and Franklin, Fayette, Union, Rush, Shelby, Henry and Wayne of the old Sixth comprising a new district.

Of the present Fifth district the counties of Vigo, Clay, Parke and Vermillion will be joined with Montgomery and Fountain of the Ninth to form a new district.

Hancock county, of the Sixth, will be drawn into the Eighth district, according to the proposed plan, with the counties of Madison, Delaware, Randolph, Jay and Adams of the Eighth and Blackford of the Eleventh district, to balance up for the loss of Wells, which goes to the Eleventh.

Division of Marion County.

Another feature of the reapportionment will be the division of Marion county. The townships of Lawrence, Warren, Franklin and Center, containing the greater part of Indianapolis will comprise one district, while the townships of Washington, Pike, Wayne, Decatur and Perry will be joined to the counties of Howard, Tipton, Hamilton, Johnson, Morgan, Putnam, Hendricks, Boone and Clinton.

The Eleventh District.

In addition to Cass, Miami, Wabash, Huntington and Grant the Eleventh district will have Wells of the Eighth, Carroll of the Ninth and Pulaski of the Thirteenth districts.

The Tenth district has at the present time an excess of population and it will be deprived of Laporte county, leaving the counties of Lake, Porter, Newton, Jasper, Benton, White, Warren and Tippecanoe.

The Thirteenth district will include, in addition to Laporte county, St. Joseph, Elkhart, Starke, Marshall and Fulton, losing Kosciusko to the Twelfth district and Pulaski to the Eleventh.

Proposals for the Twelfth.

The Twelfth district, normally democratic by a large majority, according to members of the committee, is able to take on the republican county of Kosciusko and thus relieve the Thirteenth district, which by the addition of Laporte, is thus made solidly democratic. The district is thus made up of Lagrange, Steuben, Kosciusko, Noble, DeKalb, Whitley and Allen.

Senator Carleton states that this apportionment will remain substantially as it is, being favored by the committee, unless unusual pressure is brought to bear to change it. He states that in his opinion it would be hard to find a more equitable apportionment, basing the arrangement on the population basis. The committee will report a bill at an early date provided congress enacts an apportionment bill before the adjournment of the present session of the Indiana legislature on March 6.

Several leaders in the senate are of the opinion that a special session of the state legislature will be necessary on account of the delay in congress and it is stated that Governor Marshall feels that in case the national congress did enact an apportionment law too late for action by the regular assembly of Indiana, it would be the duty of the executive to call a special session to redistrict the state.

If the general assembly does not have an opportunity to act on the congressional apportionment and a special session is not called, the next Indiana delegation would have to be elected by an election at large, in which all of the state would vote on twelve candidates for congress regardless of district boundaries.

It has been pointed out by democrats that the politic thing to do would be to call an extra session of the legislature to make a congressional reapportionment rather than take the chance of having a republican legislature in two years take up the work of redistricting the state.

TO LET CONTRACT THIS AFTERNOON

Contract for Decorating the Rink for Auto Show to Be Awarded.

A BAND IS ENGAGED

The decoration committee of the Fort Wayne Automobile Show association went to the Princess rink this morning to look over the ground preparatory to letting contracts for the decoration, which will in all probability be let this afternoon. Wolf & Dessauer and the Fort Wayne Tent and Awning company are the only two firms after this job and one of them will probably be given the contract. The program committee made a contract with the City Packard band this morning to give a concert each afternoon and evening of the show, and will have programs printed showing the numbers played at each concert.

The eight local dealers composing the executive board of the association held a meeting at the Commercial club Monday night and received the reports of the chairmen of committees in charge of arrangements for the show. With the exception of the refreshment and decoration contracts all contracts have been let and all the space has been sold.

A. L. Randall, one of the executive committee, received a letter this morning from a man in New York who wants to put in a flying machine exhibit of working models, six feet long, of all of the standard flying machines. This exhibit has toured the United States and is said to have created considerable interest. The expense of bringing this exhibit to the show would be considerable but it is being considered, though it is doubtful if it will be done as the space for showing is all sold, and the machines would have to be hung from the ceiling where they could be examined as well.

Close to $100,000 worth of automobiles will be on exhibition at the show, the exhibit of the Randall garage alone being over $8,000, and in addition to this various parts will be on exhibition. There will be eight local dealers to show automobiles and three manufacturers.

The executive committee will hold a final meeting, before the opening of the show, Monday night, Feb. 12.

ARMED GREEKS ARE LURKING IN HILLS

Dangerous Situation Follows a Strike Riot in Utah.

TWO SHOT; ONE DEAD

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 7.—The strike of Greek coal miners at Kenilworth, Carbon county, Utah, which flared into a sudden riot yesterday morning, has now become an armed truce, the strikers lurking in the mountains about the camp and the authorities maintaining a vigilant guard about the property of the Independent Coal and Coke company, the residences of the mine officials and the body of loyal mine workers.

Thomas Jackson, a deputy sheriff, was killed and Chris Sandberg, a Swedish miner, wounded during the riots. There was shooting on both sides, and each insists that the other shot first.

The Greeks sought points of vantage outside the town and kept up the fire until the arrival of Sheriff Kelter with a posse. The posse replied to the fire of the strikers, killing at least one Greek and wounding two others. There may be more dead and wounded in the hills.

The controversy between the miners and the company turns on the prices paid for mining.

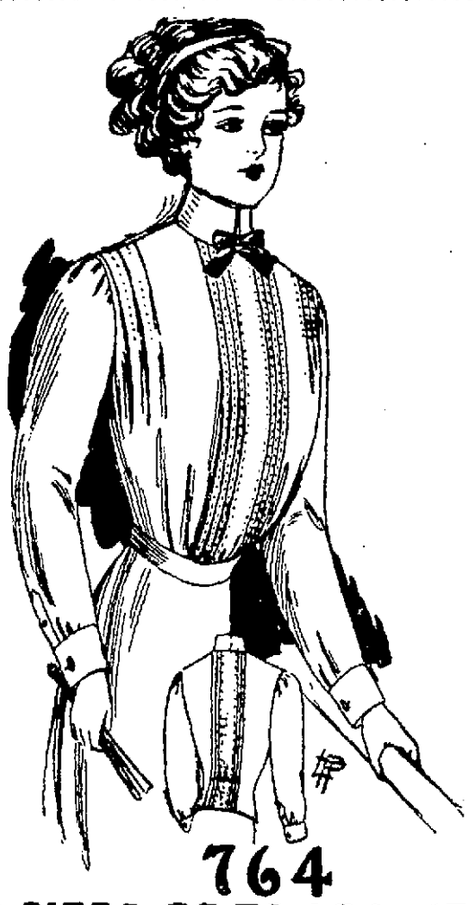
WAISTS WE MUST HAVE

By MRS. JANE FORD.



764

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

Unless one contemplates a trip south it is a little early to plan lingerie frocks, but tub waists of both sheer and heavy material are worn the year round. Even though they are to be laid away and held in readiness for use during the warm weather, it is not a bit too early to have them made. This purely American bit of attire does not depend upon the whims of the French modiste for its popularity, therefore each year it gains a firmer hold. In New York, the birthplace of the shirtwaist, each season the style and cut of these garments are decided upon, and shops display very early smart models that make even the French women envious.

The full length sleeves and grouping of tucks close to the center front mark waists as distinctly 1911 productions.

Three small tucks at the shoulders, arranged to give fulness over the bust, instead of one or two broad tucks, in "Gibson" style, are another distinctive feature of the new waist. While these can be bought ready to wear and fit remarkably well, many women prefer to make their own. By doing so one has a greater selection of materials and little individual touches can be applied in finishing them.

The drawing shows one of the smartest waists I have seen for morning wear. The material selected was a fine linen lawn, and the sewing line of each tuck was hemstitched. The plain material between the grouping of tucks at the front and the upper part of the sleeves, finishing just above the elbow, were embroidered with polka dots about the size of a large pea. Those who would like to copy this waist can order the pattern in six sizes, that run from thirty-two to forty-two inches bust measure. Of twenty-seven inch goods three and one-eighth yards are needed, but of thirty-six inch goods two and three-eighths yards are sufficient.

On the waist a set of Irish crochet collar and cuffs could be used to advantage, and if they are basted in position by hand instead of using machine stitching for the purpose, they can be removed when desired and used on several waists.

A Novel Baked Dinner for Sunday

By Jeannette Young Norton.

It has been said by physicians of at least three generations that if humanity would throw away the frying pan much of its apparent indigestible afflictions would vanish with it. Many of the latter day specialists seem to be of the same opinion. Hence the recommendation and the increased popularity of the baked foods and the fame of the casserole dish.

A baked dinner from soup to dessert is rather a novelty, but the home cook will find it quite easily prepared and most enjoyable. Any of the accessories suggested in the menu may be used if they are available and there are extra guests at dinner or omitted if a simpler meal is considered wiser for the day.

Menu.

Cherry Cocktails
Oysters on the Half Shell
Baked Soup, Croutons
Baked Bluefish, Butter and Parsley Sauce
Baked Fresh Ham, Savory Dressing and Chestnut Sauce
Baked Potatoes
Baked Spanish Onions
Apricot Ice Baked Sweetbread Salad
Baked Ice Cream. Macaroons
Coffee Bonbons Cordial

The cocktails, oysters, apricot ice, bonbons and cordial may be omitted if desired, at least they need no recipe for preparing them from the familiarity to all cooks. But to make the baked soup we proceed as follows:

Baked Soup.

Cut one pound of bottom round in slices, slice two onions and two carrots, one ounce of rice, one pint of split peas pepper, salt, four quarts of clear water, one stalk of celery finely minced. Place all in a covered crock and bake in the oven four hours. Serve with croutons.

Baked Bluefish.

Select a bluefish weighing six pounds, have it split, cleaned and the head left on, rinse thoroughly so that no scales or blood remain upon it, dust it slightly with pepper and salt. Make a savory dressing with plenty of butter and have it highly seasoned; stuff the body and the head as well and tie with kitchen tape, do not sew it, as it makes it difficult to serve and it is also apt to burst. Lay thin slices of bacon on the top and baste with a wineglass of white wine and take some of the melted butter. Garnish with cold boiled egg rings and fried parsley, serve with butter and parsley sauce. Remember to grease the rack well before laying the fish on it to bake, so that it does not stick.

Baked Fresh Ham.

Have a short, thick fresh ham boned and stuff it with a chestnut and apple stuffing and baste it carefully with a little melted butter, juice of an onion, one drop of oil of cloves and a wineglass of port wine. Serve with chestnut sauce, garnish with parsley. The potatoes are baked in the usual way, and the onions may be baked "au gratin" if not thought too rich with the ham.

Baked Sweetbread Salad.

Parboil and blanch a good pair of fresh sweetbreads. When cold, split and thickly spread with a mixture of chopped olives, nuts, yolk of hard boiled egg and a green pepper after removing the seeds, butter and a dusting of cracker crumbs, all worked to a paste. Spread the paste on the sweetbreads, tie the halves together with the kitchen tape, sprinkle with pepper, salt and a little melted butter. Bake a delicate brown in a pretty hot oven, and when cold slice in thick slices and arrange them on lettuce leaves, serving with mayonnaise dressing. The baked ice cream is the next consideration, and while not difficult to do requires a very hot oven and expeditious treatment.

Baked Ice Cream.

Have the cream to be baked frozen very hard and cut into blocks the size for individual service. Have the whites of eggs beaten very stiff with powdered sugar and a dash of brandy, spread the meringue quickly over the blocks placed on a baking sheet and thrust them into the hot oven for a minute or two to brown the meringue, but watch that it does not burn, as that ruins them. Serve quickly with macaroons. If desired, any other meat may be substituted for the ham. Tongue or a veal cut are both good baked.

THE WAY OF ONE CLEVER WIFE

How a Plain Woman Holds Her Handsome Husband by Tact and an Even Temper.

The cleverest wife I know is the plainest. She hasn't even a figure, or a smart way of wearing her frock, or an unusual talent upon which to build her wifely accomplishments. Yet I doubt if there is another as peaceful and happy home as her's extant, all things being equal.

How does she accomplish it?

She simply keeps abreast of the spirit of the times. Sounds easy, doesn't it? And it is—with inclination, energy and a determination to ignore the little unpleasant things in life. Among these is the admiration—harmless, but nevertheless annoying—which her handsome husband displays for every pleasing woman who happens to cross his path.

"I saw John lunching with a striking young girl in Marsden's yesterday," confided a neighbor, opening up her little bag of discord and scattering the seeds.

But the plain little wife doesn't fly at John that evening, hurling questions—in themselves accusations—at his tired, business befogged head. The incident isn't mentioned until John himself casually remarks that he had taken the daughter of his business partner out to luncheon in the absence of her father.

"A devilishly pretty girl," re ruminated.

"Yes, isn't she, and so sensible, too. I met her at the holiday season and thought her fascinating," agreed the plain wife with just the proper amount of warmth.

Now fascinating was not the word, as the plain wife very well knew. It told what the pretty girl was not. She was blonde, pink and white, languid, a delight to the eye, but a drug to the mind.

"Well, I wouldn't call her exactly fascinating," John said, looking from a new angle of vision. "Doesn't it take a pretty clever woman to turn the tide with a single word, and a complimentary one at that?"

The girl was promptly forgotten, the dream presence blotted out by a particularly good dinner made up of John's favorite dishes. John's admiration for pretty women are as the sands of the sea, and the plain wife knows how to make them just as indefinite by never accenting any of them.

THE WELL GROOMED WOMAN

It Takes Time and Some Taste to Make an Attractive Appearance.

In the present age of self-indulgence and luxurious extravagance, no price seems too much for the woman with a large income to pay for the pleasure of looking well groomed.

Those women who are less able still have the luxuries, and sacrifice in other ways to pay for them. The average woman at home or in the business world must do the best she can toward accomplishing the same result with limited time and, perhaps, a much more limited income at her disposal.

To the latter class the visiting "shampoo" woman is quite a boon, for she comes at an hour which can be arranged to the client's satisfaction, and after the shampoo she gives a restful facial massage treatment; then she manicures the nails and pedicures if one wishes it done—and all for a very moderate sum compared to what it would cost to have all this done at a fashionable establishment or beauty culturist's.

The care of long hair, even if it is not unduly heavy, is a great tax, for it requires constant attention. The brushing with a good stiff brush which keeps it looking lively and glossy is almost impossible to do properly for one's self, and the danger of trying to shampoo it without help lies in not being able to see when it is clean and in not rinsing sufficiently to remove all the soap, for it is very tiring on the arms.

The proper way to give a shampoo is to first part the hair and, dividing it into small section, brush it free from tangles, looping it around the forefinger of the left hand, a few inches from the head, so as not to pull it. Then, if the scalp is a dry one, a tiny bit of good oil may be rubbed in with the tips of the fingers. If the scalp is oily and without dandruff this is not necessary. Now take a dessert spoonful of a good shampoo jelly, dissolve it in a mug of hot water; then, after wetting the hair, proceed to rub in this mixture slowly until sufficient lather is created to cleanse the scalp. If the head is very dirty repeat the process a second time, gently rubbing the long hair between the hands as one would rub a piece of clothing in washing. When the head and hair seem perfectly clean rinse thoroughly, first with as warm water as the subject can stand and cool it off gradually. This is easily done with a spray, but requires a little more care where a pitcher is used.

Dry carefully as much as possible with a crash towel, then a fan used in one hand while with the other the hair is lifted and passed through the fingers. This process will soon dry it. Now part it again and brush carefully until it is free from tangles, then a good tonic may be dropper over the scalp and gently massaged in so that the entire scalp is invigorated, made flexible and loose from the head, as a loose scalp is always the healthiest one and usually shows the best growth of hair. This sounds like a very long and complicated operation, but in fact it may all be done in one hour or a little more, while once in three weeks is often enough to have it done, if the subject will shake out the hair and air it a little every night before braiding it and give it as good a brushing as she can manage, also rub in a little tonic once or twice between the visits of the professional.

The manicuring one may do for themselves during the interval of visits if they look into the methods a bit.

With the daily bath, to which a tablespoonful of bicarbonate of soda has been added, or a little sea salt, or ammonia, or a sweet bath tablet, the average woman may appear as well groomed as the woman who has more time and infinitely more money to spend upon the same operation.

RECIPES.

Frothed Chocolate.

Scald one pint of milk in the double boiler, dissolve one level teaspoonful of cornstarch in a little cold water, and stir it into the hot milk; cover and cook for ten minutes. Scrape four squares of bitter chocolate, add two tablespoonfuls of water and set at the side of the fire where it will slowly melt. When quite dissolved and glossy add gradually one pint of hot water, stir over the fire for two minutes and add it to the milk. Cook in the double boiler, stirring occasionally for ten minutes; then beat vigorously with an egg beater and serve with whipped cream.

Prune Whip.

Soak one-half of a pound of washed prunes over night; cook in as little water as possible until tender, then cool them, stone half and cut or mash quite fine. Whip the whites of five eggs to a soft froth, add a pinch of cream of tartar and beat until stiff and dry, then gradually whip in a half cupful of sifted powdered sugar. Lightly stir in the prunes, turn into a buttered dish, stand in a pan of hot water and bake in a hot oven from twenty to twenty-five minutes. This is best when served at once, passing with it whipped cream for a cold boiled custard.

Health and Beauty Answers

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Julia M.: It is natural to grow heavier during cold winter months, but your weight is increasing too rapidly, and I would suggest a simple treatment which is splendid for taking off flesh. Get from the druggist four ounces of parnotis and dissolve in 1½ pints of hot water. A tablespoonful of this before each meal will gradually take off the superfluous weight. This treatment is harmless, costs little and requires no starving, but you must be sure to get parnotis.

Elsie I.: It is ungallant for your sweetheart to chide you about the downy growth on your face, but if you follow these simple directions the hair can be easily removed: Buy an ounce of delatone from your druggist, mix a little with enough water to make a paste, and apply to the hairy surface. Let remain for two or three minutes, then rub off and wash the surface well. While delatone is a little expensive, one application usually does the work.

May: Stop using face powders and try this "liquid powder" for that shiny look and your complexion will soon resume its natural healthy tint: Dissolve four ounces of spurmax in one-half pint hot water, add two teaspoonfuls glycerine, shake well and let cool. This applied to the skin's surface after washing clears and cleanses it and gives it a pink and white glow not obtainable with powder and rouge. And druggist can supply spurmax, and it is inexpensive.

Hermes: Face lotions will not rid your face of its pimples and liver spots. This condition is caused through impurities in the blood finding their way to the skin's surface. What you require is a blood cleanser and system tonic, and if you will prepare this inexpensive recipe, the skin will become clear and you will feel much better: Get an ounce of kardene from your druggist and dissolves in one-half pint alcohol, adding one-half cup sugar, then hot water to make a quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal, and I'm sure you will find it excellent.

Bride: Here is a splendid recipe for a greaseless massage cream: Dissolve an ounce of almozoin in a half-pint of cold water, add two teaspoonfuls glycerine, stir well and let stand for a few hourse. Nightly massaging with this almozoin cream jelly softens the skin and removes blackheads, while its continued use will give to the face that perfect glow of youthful health. You will find almozoin inexpensive and any druggist can supply it.

Anna G.: The condition you describe is not eczema of the scalp, but is likely caused through using injurious soaps or shampoo mixtures, which have robbed the scalp of the oily secretion necessary to keep it in a healthy condition. I am sure you can overcome this if you buy some canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough for one good shampoo, and although its cost is trifling, it stops lichness and soon corrects the dry, scaly condition of the scalp. It would be advisable to use the quinzoin hair tonic, mentioned in another paragraph, as it is a splendid tonic in all scalp and hair troubles.

Maxine: Your thin, straggly, falling hair with dandruff is due to a starved condition of the hair follicles, and unless soon looked after will be a serious matter. You can make an excellent and inexpensive hair tonic at home if you get an ounce of quinzoin from the druggist and dissolve it in one-half pint of alcohol, then add one-half pint of water. This makes a full pint of excellent tonic for the hair, and a few careful treatments of the scalp with this brings back the silky lustre to the hair and promotes a luxuriant growth.

J. V. M.: You are right in saying that dull, listless eyes detract from womanly beauty. The burning sensation of which you speak does not call for eye-glasses, but rather an eye tonic. If you make up the following simple and inexpensive eye lotion you will obtain quick relief: Get an ounce of crystos from the drug store and dissolve in a pint of warm water. One or two drops of this harmless liquid in each eye will strengthen the eye muscles and renew the sparkle to the eye.

TEA TABLE TIPS.

"Don't you all want my recipe for Creole kisses and my grandmother's plunkets that I brought up with me from Alabama?" asked a brown eyed southern girl the other afternoon at a studio tea. "They're mighty nice and you can make them even in one of your tiny little kitchenettes if you've got any kind of an oven.

Creole Kisses.

"For the kisses you add a pound of confectioner's sugar to the whites of six eggs and beat fifteen minutes. Then add a teaspoonful of vanilla and a cupful of chopped nuts, pecan or hickory, and drop on manila paper, not buttered. Bake to a very light brown in a slow oven and take out while still a little creamy inside. It is a little easier to make the meringue with the eggs and part of the sugar, then gradually add the rest of the sugar and the other things; but the kisses are not nearly so waxy.

Grandmother's Plunkets.

"Grandmother's plunkets have to be baked in gem pans, but you can get dandy little pans that will bake a half dozen at a time and they are mighty nice to keep on hand for ginger cakes and hot muffins. I will give you the whole rule, but you can divide it and make half at a time if you wish to. Beat a half pound of butter to a cream, adding gradually a half pound of sugar, separate six eggs, whites and yolks, and beat the yolks until lemon colored and thick; and the whites until stiff enough to stand alone. Stir the yolks slowly in with the butter and sugar. Sift together four times over, six ounces of corn starch, two ounces of flour and a teaspoonful of baking powder. Don't you slight this part of the operation, or the cakes won't turn out right. Add gradually to the other mixtures, flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla and bake to a golden brown, the color of nun's cloth in a moderate oven."

CHILD LABOR BILL PASSES IN HOUSE

Author of Bill Hints There Was Price in It for Him to Kill Measure.

ALLEN COUNTY VOTES

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—When Representative John J. Keegan, in the course of an impassioned plea in behalf of the child labor bill in the house yesterday afternoon, dramatically declared that an Indianapolis business man had told him that he (Keegan) could easily get $10,000 if he would allow the bill to be killed, and follow this up with a caustic arraignment of the lobbyists who had fought his efforts, closing with an eloquent argument for the welfare of the children of Indiana, the applause which shook the chamber gave an indication that the backbone of the opposition to the Keegan bill had been broken. An hour later, when the roll was called, Keegan had won his fight by a vote of 53 to 39.

Interesting Debate.

The debate, which was on the motion to adopt the committee on labor's minority report for the bill as originally presented, as against the majority report favoring several amendments that would have made its provisions less stringent, was one of the most interesting of the session thus far. Keegan and his supporters took the opponents of the measure by surprise and literally swept them off their feet. Although the opposition counted on sixty-one votes before the session opened, they had but thirty-nine when the roll was called.

After the debate on the bill Representative Keegan said he did not mean in any sense that he had been offered a $10,000 bribe. He said the man who told him he could get $10,000 was a friend of his, whom he knew to be a friend of his bill. He said he did not take the matter seriously at all. He would not disclose the name of the man who told him of the $10,000. Neither would he say to whom he referred as a "oute little Cupid."

Wise Sets Record Clear.

Representative Keegan's ablest lieutenant in the fight was Representative Adam E. Wise, who had not been counted on to take such a prominent part in support of the bill. In fact, it had been predicted Wise would vote for the majority report. His attitude toward labor heretofore has been questioned to the extent that when he was a candidate for the speakership he was openly fought by an Indianapolis labor publication. It was to set his record clear, Mr. Wise said, that he spoke as a champion of the measure. He mentioned the attack made on him by the labor paper, and said he desired to set himself right. As a result of Wise's stand there was considerable talk among the politicians of the house that the representative from Plymouth was getting in line to ask a higher office of his party. He has been mentioned as a possible candidate for congress and also for lieutenant governor, but Mr. Wise insisted there was no ulterior motive in his outspoken stand for the labor bill and that he advocated it solely because of a sincere belief that it would benefit the children of the state. He said that his attitude toward labor had been misrepresented in the past.

Not only did Keegan win his fight for the minority report, but his attack was so well organized that none of the expected amendments was voted on to the bill. The sponsor for the measure had the satisfaction of seeing it go to engrossment just as it was presented. It is expected that a determined effort will be made to defeat it when it is called for third reading, but Representative Keegan said that the failure to amend the bill yesterday means that it will be passed just as it is. Opponents of the measure say that if it passes the house with its present provisions it will be that much easier to defeat in the senate.

Party Lines Are Broken.

The minority report was signed by Representatives Masselink, Hammond, Johnson and Keegan, while the majority report was signed by Eward, Rupel, Ault, Benz and Moran. There was no alignment of party vote, the members of the majority and minority having been permitted to vote as they pleased without respect to the party lash. Representative Cravens, majority floor leader, voted against substituting the minority report, while Representative Eschbach, minority floor leader, voted for the minority report.

Speaker Veneman voted to uphold the majority report of the committee. He explained his vote after the roll had been called by stating that he did not believe the bill had been discussed on its merits. He was opposed to throwing such restrictions around child labor as proposed in the bill, and thought the bill was against the best interests of the family.

Republicans More United

Twenty-two republicans voted for the minority report and thirteen republicans voted for the majority report. Thirty-one democrats supported the minority report and twenty-five democrats opposed it. Representatives Biddle, Voris and Wright (Dem.) and Representatives Clark, Connelly, Weeks, Plummer and Mendenhall (Rep.) did not vote.

The vote on substituting the minority for the majority report, or in favor of the Keegan bill as introduced was as follows:

KNEW ALL HIS SYMPTOMS.

One of the anecdotes related by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell in his story, "Doctor North and His Frineds," might well be a personal experience of the author. The hero, Doctor North, was traveling from Harrisburg by the night train, which was crowded. In one of the cars he found a man stretched across two seats asleep. He wakened him, begged pardon for disturbing him, and asked for a seat. After a little time the two entered into conversation.

At length the man asked, "Do you know Dr. Owen North?"

Rather astonished, I said "Yes."

"What kind of a man is he?"

"Oh, a very good fellow."

"He is like all them high-up doctors. Gets big fees, doesn't he? I want to know."

"No," said I. "That is always exaggerated. Why do you ask?"

"Well, I've had a lot of doctors, and now I haven't much money left."

Upon this, my friend confided to me all his physical woes in detail. We parted before daybreak. It was too dark in the car for either of us to see plainly.

About ten the next day the man entered my consulting room. As I should not have known him except for a rather peculiar voice, I, too, remained unidentified. I could not resist so excellent an opportunity. Looking at him, I said:

"Sit down. You have a pain in you back."

"That's queer! I have."

"And you are blind in the left eye, and your digestion is bad," and so I went on.

At last he said: "I never saw a doctor like you! It scares a man, 'most. Can you cure me?"

I said "Yes," and wrote our directions. When he produced a well-worn wallet I declined to take a fee, and said:

"I owe you for the seat and the good sleep I disturbed last night."

"Well, I declare! I see now! You were the man. But law! why did you give it away? I'd have sent you the whole township!"—Youth's Companion.

WESTERN MISSOURI BIRDS.

One thousand eight hundred and forty-seven birds were counted in Kansas City and south to Dodson in three hours yesterday afternoon by Harry R. Wamsley, president of the Audubon Society of Missouri.

A bird census is taken every Christmas by Audubon society officials. The English sparrow is not counted, as it is considered of too plentiful and of little use.

The bird census results:

Crow, 61; bluejay, 70; cedar waxwing, 1; cardinal, 53; mourning dove, 1; Carolina wren, 3; junco, 800; black-capped chickadee, 500; crested titmouse, 300; hairy woodpecker, 4; downy woodpecker, 3; red-bellied woodpecker, 8; flicker, 1; white-breasted nuthatch, 2; pintail, 1; kingfisher, 1; brown creeper, 1; red-tailed hawk, 5; tree sparrow, 2. Total species, 19; total individuals, 1,847.—Kansas City Journal.

Sergeant Seiler, in charge of the local army recruiting station, returned Monday night from Fort Harrison, Indianapolis, where he took a nexamination for promotion to the rank of post commissary sergeant.

EACH BALLOT IS TO BE RECOUNTED

Cass County Courts Begin Contest Case in Two of the Offices.

IS NARROW MARGIN

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 7.—The election contest instituted by C. F. Hamontree and O. M. Shirley, republicans, against M. M. Minnick and Harry Burkit, democrats, for the offices of treasurer and recorder of Cass county, respectively, started in yesterday morning before Judge Wason. Each of the 9,000 ballots cast at the recent election will be recounted. At the close of the session yesterday afternoon the three precincts of the Fourth ward in this city had been counted and sixty-seven ballots protested.

Before the count was begun the attorneys agreed that all the votes in each precinct about which there is no dispute should be counted first and those defaced or mutilated be set to one side to be counted later. It is estimated by counsel on both sides that the recount will put between 700 and 800 protested ballots up to Judge Wason to pass upon.

Country May Decide.

The information upon which the plaintiffs base their ground for contest comes largely from country precincts, and hence it is the opinion of all concerned that the court will have at least fifteen days' work before the recount is completed. As the count is made ballots protested by either side are set aside and when the recount is finished the court will take up these protested ballots one by one, place them in the classification upon which the protest is based and pass upon them.

Burkit, democratic candidate for recorder, whose election O. M. Shirley is contesting, has only a majority of six returned by the canvassing board. Minnick, treasurer, whose election Hamontree is contesting, has the wider margin of seventeen majority.

The fact that the plaintiffs have been able to weather the storm of technicalities which the defendants interposed and have brought the case to a recount of the ballots is hailed as a victory by plaintiffs' counsel and has decidedly worried the candidates whose election is contested.

men who are now in state's prison will rely upon their own good conduct and the mercy of the parole system to gain their freedom after they have served their minimum sentences. Mr. Thomas was convinced that he had the right men when he brought about the arrests and is satisfied with the outcome. He believes the guilty parties have been brought to justice.

County Bore the Expense

It fell upon Allen county to bear the expense of the trials and the county commissioners have asked for and obtained appropriations of $5,000 to $6,000 to pay for the defense of the three men.

LaDuke was an expense of forty cents a day to the county for his board at the county jail and there has been an outlay of about $438 to keep him as a witness.

Following the Auburn trial Mr. Thomas and Judge Erwin took up the matter of adjusting the cases without running up another bill of costs and they have held a number of conferences on the subject and both are satisfied that the best method of disposing of the prosecutions has been followed out.

Croy was killed on June 7, 1907. He had been aroused by an alarm growing out of the saloon burglary and as he approached the place two shots were fired and a few minutes later his dead body was found on the sidewalk a short distance from the saloon.

LaDuke was located in Michigan and confessed after the authorities had bent every energy toward clearing up the mystery that surrounded the killing and had been in jail since.

MUCH PERJURY OVER ESTATE.

Frisco Attorney Alleges 100 are Guilty of It in Contest.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 7.—That 100 persons have committed perjury in an effort to obtain part of the million dollar estate of Julius Friedman, a merchant, was the allegation in an affidavit submitted yesterday to the superior court by Attorney Solomon.

The attorney asks the court to procure a deposition from Dr. Leo G. Goldberg, of Brooklyn, who, according to Solomon, has acknowledged that wholesale perjury has been committed to substantiate the claims of various alleged heirs.

Declaring that the testator had no living relatives, the will of Friedman bequeathed all his property to various charities, the bulk of it to the Hebrew Home for the Aged, in this city. Two hundred thousand dollars had been turned over to the trustees of the Hebrew home when Goldberg appeared in behalf of the Hagan family, of Olean, N. Y., claiming his clients were blood relatives of the merchant. The Olean heirs were followed by numerous claimants of the same name from Texas.

Harry Squires and Henry Eiter, both of Fort Wayne, enlisted in the cavalry at the local recruiting station this morning.

COMMISSION IN MODIFIED FORM

Committee Hears Outline of New City Government Plan.

WILL BE SUBMITTED

When the Commercial club's special committee goes to Indianapolis on Thursday for a conference with similar committees from other cities regarding improved form of municipal government for cities it will offer for consideration not only what is practically the Des Moines plan, but in addition a modified form of commission government as embraced in a bill which has been framed by T. F. Thieme and his associates and drafted by Attorneys Ballou & Hoffman.

This plan, which is modeled very closely after the operation of a business corporation, is designed to be non-partisan. It contemplates the election of a board of fifteen directors by the people at a popular election from a total of thirty candidates, who shall be named at a primary. The directors serve for a term of four years at a compensation that is merely nominal—$200 per year.

Select Mayor and Experts.

This board of directors is to choose the five experts who comprise the commissioners or board of administration—the mayor, a commissioner for the department of public safety and health, a commissioner for the department of streets, sewers and bridges, a commissioner for the department of finance and accounts, and a commissioner for the department of public parks and public buildings. These department heads in turn take charge of the various divisions and select their subordinates under a civil service test which is provided. It is stipulated that in the matter of franchises and tax levies the board of directors is to have the final word, but it cannot otherwise interfere save to remove a commissioner for cause, which is the recall provision of the new bill.

Under its provisions, also, the fifteen directors must have been residents of the city for at least three years prior to their election upon the board, but for the members of the board of administration or experts, the board is not bound by residence restrictions—it may go anywhere it sees fit to secure men it deems most capable to fill the various positions. All sessions of the boards are to be public.

Met With Opposition.

When the bill had been read section by section it was discussed by the committee and met with some opposition. There were those who declared their belief that such a measure could not be enacted in Indiana at this time and contended that the expression of the people thus far had been for the commission form purely and simply. Advocates of the new measure, however, held that it is in many ways more advanced and more desirable than the commission or Des Moines plan and that it ought to be submitted to the conference as a suggestion for an improved form of city government.

STRING NEW CABLE

The Home Telegraph and Telephone company has just finished stringing one of the longest overhead cables in the city, on Spy Run avenue, extending from the Spy Run bridge past the Centlivre brewery, which is considerably over a mile. In stringing this cable all open work wire has been done away with. The company has erected new Idaho cedar poles, which present a very neat appearance, being symmetrically straight. The company intends to paint the poles a cement color to harmonize with the concrete poles of the traction company, on the opposite side of the avenue. When the telephone company and the traction company complete contemplated improvements the appearance of the avenue will be considerably bettered. The company will remove all of the old poles and surplus wire. The traction company will use the telephone company's poles for attaching their span wires on one side and their own poles for attaching them on the other. The traction company's lead wire has been removed to a private right of way west of Spy Run avenue.

CARSON'S PLANS MAY BE ADOPTED

Centralized Power Necessary to Life of the Minor Leagues.

WILL COME AROUND

(By Chas. H. Spalding.)

While Dr. Frank R. Carson's plan to centralize the power in minor leagues did not look good at first glance it has started a sentiment that will in the course of a few years crystallize and place most of the business cares of all organizations in which there is a salary limit upon the shoulders of the chief executives.

This will have been necessitated by the fact that team owners are not in harmony. By this is not meant to give the impression that the ordinary minor league magnate is around with a jimmy and a gun stealing from the coffers of his fellow directors but the average club owner is not honest. This is a bold statement but it can be demonstrated by an investigation of the books of any club in any league where a dead line is fixed for the salary to be paid the players. This salary limit thing has been made elastic by winking at infractions of the rules govering it and there are now very few ball players on the pay rolls who receive nothing beyond the salary named in their contracts.

There are generally side agreements of some sort under which bonuses are given for batting above a specified mark, winning a certain per centage of the games played and a greater abuse lies in the fact that youngsters are signed with the understanding that if they are sold or drafted they are to share in the money received for their services.

To overcome all of this Dr. Carson proposes to have each owner in the league send him a check book and a salary list and allow him to send out checks for all salaries. He would have it stipulated in every contract that any player who could show that he had any side agreement could demand and receive his release upon proving that such an agreement had been entered into.

The club owner who recognizes and develops young talent is entitled to the reward. If he sells a player for a good price the money ought to belong to him because the player has simply served an apprenticeship that has made his services worth a great deal more money than he could ever have expected without the schooling he gets in the minors.

Economy in the management of the Central league is necessory to its success. If every club in the organization was inside the salary limit and had assurance that every one of his competitors was paying only as much money as he there would be eight evenly balanced teams and the man that won the cellar championship would get at least an even financial break.

There was a lengthy discussion of the proposition at the South Bend meeting and Charlie Carr, former manager of the Indianapolis club, now at the head of the Utica team and a man who has had opportunities to view baseball from all of its angles, pronounced the Carson idea a good one. He suggested that each club owner give a bill of sale on his franchise as a further guarantee of good faith.

He says the players will come around to it when they find all of the leagues in the same boat. It places a great deal of power in the hands of one man and makes him a czar but the success of the American league is cited as an instance of the feasibility of the plan. Bancroft Byron Johnson is the great "I am" of that organization. When a scandal appears on the surface Byron B. bores into the case, locks his doors, tells everybody to keep hands off and settles affairs after a fashion of his own.

True there are not many Ban Johnson's in baseball but there are plenty of minor league magnates with enough executive ability to hold the power without abusing it and Dr. Carson is one of them. If the Central league remains intact another year, and there is no reason why it should not unless there are some shifts in sight that might prove advantageous in cutting down the mileage, the directors will have at least given the doctor's idea serious thought and if the scheme is not adopted it will be replaced with one that is equally as good.

As a whole the owners in the league are men of excellent type, men who would not entertain a dishonest thought in their private business methods but they find it hard to keep inside their fixed salary limit and compromise with their consciences every season with the excuse that the other fellows do it.

THEY HIT .400 FOR THREE YEARS

Barnes and Burkett Only Players Who Have Ever Turned the Trick.

RECORDS OF LONG AGO

Ross Barnes, who played with the Boston Red Stockings in the old National association days, and Jesse Burkett, now the manager of Worcester, share the honor of batting for better than .400 in three seasons. Barnes made his best average in 1873, while a member of the Boston club, when he hit for .453. In 1872 Barnes batted for .403, and in 1876, the first year of the National league, as a member of the then newly organized Chicago club he stung the pellet for one point less.

Burkett's records were made in the '90s, two while a member of the Cleveland club, and the third subsequent to his transfer to the St. Louis team. The fat years are 1895, 1896 and 1899 and the averages .423, .410 and .402, respectively.

Four others, Adrian C. Anson, Ed Delahanty, Harry Stovey and Sam Thompson, broke into really select baseball society on two occasions each. The records show that Anson batted for .407 in 1879 and for .421 in 1887; Delahanty for .400 flat in 1894 and for .408 in 1899; Stovey for .402 in 1884 and for .404 in 1887; Thompson for .406 in 1887 and .403 in 1894.

O'Neill a Star Batter.

There are just 23 other members of the ".400" of baseball, and of these big "Tip" O'Neill, of Comiskey's four-time pennant-winning Browns is the candy kid. O'Neill led the American association batsmen in 1887 with the remarkable average of .492, the highest ever attained by a major league player. "Pete" Browning is second on the list with .471, but as he happened to perform this feat in the same year and same league as big "Tip" Browning did not even get a batting championship for his trouble. Peter, however, did manage to grab off a batting premiership once. That was in 1885, when he hit for a mere .367.

Of the National Leaguers Hugh Duffy is to be awarded the leadership among the single season .400 men, his average of .438, made in 1894, never having been equaled in the ranks of the older organization. That year was the most remarkable season for batting recorded in baseball, four men getting into the .400 class, and 70 others batting into the .300 or better. The .400 batsmen besides Duffy that year were Turner, .423; Thompson, .406, and Delahanty, .400.

But one American leaguer has ever batted for better than .400—Napoleon Lajoie, who in 1901 hit for .422.

For consistent work with the stick Anson must be awarded the palm, as he batted for .300 or better in 20 of the 22 years he was a player in the National league, though neither Wagner nor Cobb has failed to bat for .300 or better since they entered the ranks of the majors.

But Cobb's term of service is spanned by five years, and the big Pittsburger's by fourteen, so they are hardly entitled to be ranked with the former Chicago leader. Besides Anson, the only batsman to hit for .300 or better oftener than Wagner is Dan Brouthers, who has one more season to his credit than the flying Dutchman.

"Orator" James, O'Rourke, Jimmy Ryan, St. Jacob Beckley, Willie Keeler, and Napoleon Lajoie are just behind Wagner with 13 seasons a piece. The 12-season men are Roger Connor, George Van Haltren and Billy Hamilton; the 11-season, Hugh Duffy, Jesse Burkett, Ed Delahanty and Joe Kelley; the 10-season, Peter Browning, Fred Clarke and Manager Patsy Donovan, of the Red Sox.

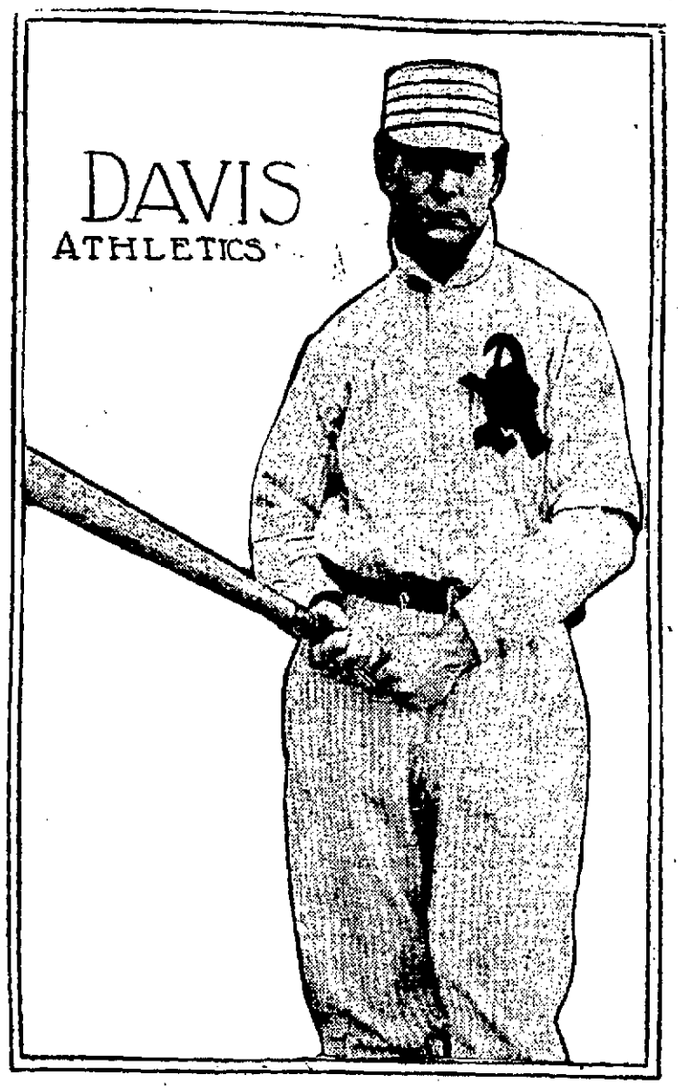
Fifty-five others batted for .300 or better for more than four seasons, and less than 10, while 348 have reached the honor class on four or less occasions, 222 of whom qualified in but a single season. On 20 occasions batsmen have just managed to get in with .300 flat, and there has been but one repeater, Beckley, who hit for evens in 1889 and 1901.

The total number to bat for .300 or more since 1876 is 422.

NEW JUMPING RECORD.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Edmund Lamy, the amateur skating champion, made a broad jump on the ice here yesterday, 25 feet 2 inches, breaking the world's record by three feet and seven inches. The world's record, held by F. McDaniels until now, was made at Minneapolis December 23, 1897, when he made a broad jump of twenty-one feet, seven inches.

Veteran Signs a Contract



Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—Harry Davis, who captained and played first base on the world's champion team of the Philadelphia American league club, today signed a contract to play with the same club for the coming season. St. Louis, Cleveland two other American league teams were endeavoring to secure Davis, but he decided to remain with Manager Mack.

TRANSFER CUP RACE.

Will Not Be Held on the Long Island Course Next Fall.

New York, Feb. 7.—Because of the deadly character of the Vanderbilt cup race on the Long Island Motor parkway course last year and the subsequent transfer of the grand prize race to Savannah, efforts are now under way to bring about the holding of the Vanderbilt on some other than the Long Island course next fall.

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., the donor of the cup, is in Europe but motor interests close to the guiding spirits of the motor cup holding company, which controls the two big automobiling events of the year, predict today that these efforts will fail.

"The race will not go to Savannah, Indianapolis or any other city" was the confident prediction of one man supposed to speak with knowledge. "If the event is not held on Long Island it will not be held at all."

M'FARLAND BAFFLES KEYES.

Chicago Lightweight Wins Six-Round Battle in Pittsburg Ring.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—Packey MacFarland of Chicago easily beat Bert Keyes of New York in a six-round bout before the Union club here last night. MacFarland wore Keyes down with body blows and hooks to the jaw, and in two more rounds MacFarland would have knocked the New York boxer out. Keyes rallied at times and sent right and left swings at the head and stomach of the Chicago boxer, but the latter evaded these swings by stepping back or by neatly blocking the blows.

During the first three rounds MacFarland continued sending blows into the stomach of Keyes and in clinches MacFarland rained blows into his opponent's body. Keyes tried hard to reach the Chicago boy with wild swings. As soon as a swing would miss MacFarland would send a vicious blow to the stomach with his left and followed with a right to the face. Keyes was puzzled with MacFarland's style of milling.

In the fifth round Keyes began to show the effects of the hard body blows. MacFarland then started to rain blows on the face and body of the New York boxer. MacFarland was superior in every way. He had the advantage over Keyes in reach, height and weight, and as a boxer MacFarland was by far the cleverest. Only Keyes' endurance enabled him to stay the six rounds with MacFarland.

The sixth round showed that MacFarland had taken Keyes' measure and he was starting to finish his opponent when the bell rang.

LARRY NEEDS COIN.

LeJeune Acquires Necessary Big League Nerve.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 7.—A letter has been received by the Brooklyn club, from Larry LeJune, holder of the world's long distance throwing record, and drafted by the local club from the Evansville Central league club. He is a member of the 1911 Superbas and was anxious to know about reporting time for spring practice and incidentally there was a request for some advance money. LeJeune lost most of his possessions recently in a fire at Evansville.

LITTLE COIN TO THE HOME GUARD

Fort Wayne Did Not Get Money Out of the Big Tournament.

George H. Stang and Bill Brossard, paired in the doubles at the St. Louis bowling tourney, will receive $49 for the score they rolled on Sunday and Seidler will in all probability receive $30 for his score in the singles and Leist, Doehrman, Kelly, Haas and possibly Schiefer will land small prizes. The official list has not been given out but Fort Wayne will get some of the money but not near as much as it chucked into the big meeting.

Chicago landed the individual event through the efforts of young Jimmy Blouin, who shot 681 a week ago, and had his record stand some of the severest attacks ever made on a bowling leader. Several times his mark seemed in danger, the veteran Mel Knox, of Indianapolis, missing it closest by a single strike. Blouin has been rolling for years, but the present victory is his first big one in a tournament.

Two men honors are divided by the states of Pennsylvania and Ohio, Louis Seiler, of Washington, Pa., and Walter Hartley, of East Liverpool, O., dropping 1,246 early in the meet and never being threatened seriously in spite of their mark being a comparative low one.

Chicago never made a greater cleanup in the history of the game, the total cash winnings exclusive of some money in the all events, being $8,394, with sixty-five clubs entered. The town won over half of the team money with $4,100, while the doubles netted Chicago $2,200, and the singles $2,100.

The winning by cities shows Chicago leading heavily, with Cincinnati just nosing St. Louis out of second place, the totals being $1,129 and $1,122. Indianapolis showed well with $1,097; Louisville had $766; Washington, D. C., shot $670; Columbus, $622; Buffalo, $405; Detroit, $390; Cleveland, $393; Milwaukee, $439; St. Paul, $399; Omaha, $383, and Kansas City, $320. The all events list will swell these amounts a trifle all around.

FRED BECK TO REDS.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 7.—Outfielder Fred Beck has been purchased by the Cincinnati National league club from the Boston Nationals, according to an announcement made by Manager Clark Griffith of the local club today.

Two more signed contracts have been received by the Cincinnati club—those of Pitchers George Suggs and Arthur Fromme.

The second term of the gymnasium classes of the T. V. V. begins now 7-4t.

Lobby Chatter at Meeting of Central League Magnates

Under the belief that Frank McDermott will be crowded out of the game again by the employment of a manager whose regular position is third base, Bert Annis and Ed Smith, owner and manager respectively of the South Bend team, tried to get possession of the Philadelphia brektop but didn't get very far with the proposition before Claude H. Varnell sounded taps for the stuff and told both that there was no chance.

There is not an owner in the league who would pass up a chance to sign McDermott but Varnell likes him, thinks he will develop into a great ball player and will hold to him for another season at least.

* * *

W. W. Irwin, secretary of the Wheeling club, is in a peck of trouble and he and Claude H. Varnell will hike back to that dear Charleston, W. Va., just as soon as the meeting is over. This will prevent the Fort Wayne owner from stopping here on his way home. There is a bill before the West Virginia legislature that provides most everything short of the gallows for playing Sunday ball.

Some little investigations that have been going on designed to demonstrate just how some of the senators and representatives got hold of their jobs is keeping them uneasy and they are anxious to get through and go home before there is an explosion. The bill is so stringent that it most forbids a man from milking his own cow on the Sabbath and the Wheeling owners fear that in their haste to get through the legislature will pass the measure.

This spells disaster for everybody interested in the club and Irwin and Varnell will go to Charleston to defeat it if possible. The bill is not popular, according to both of the club owners, but it may be rushed through.

* * *

Claude H. Varnell did not get "Kit" Carney, the Utica first baseman, because he did not want to be held up. He is willing to pay a good price for a good man but Charlie Carr hawked his player about until he finally disposed of him to Terre Haute and got Ed Goes in return. He probably got a little cash too, but he would not give out the price.

Jimmy Burke has been looking up Graham, who Varnell expected to get from St. Louis, but finds that he is not the brilliant first sacker that Harry Howell seems to think he is and the deal will probably go no farther. He has some other matters under consideration and may possibly land one of the pair Detroit is trying out. He has little hope that Gainer will be back here but he would welcome him with open arms.

* * *

Manager James Casey, D. D. S., was not among those present at the gathering. Dr. James is very busy making gimp and there was no use to have him at the gathering as he knows so little of the circuit that he would be of little value in the consideration of the schedule.

The manager reports that he has the contract of Pitcher Hardin, turned over by the Detroit club and that he expects to land another man or two at the end of the Tiger training trip.

* * *

Bade Myers attended the meeting and announced that he could have landed the managerial job at Zanesville but the salary offered him was not big enough. He will be back at Quincy, Ill., this year and will get for his team several players from the Central league. He had nobody in particular in view but was looking over the ground to find out what material can be obtained and when the time comes he will put in his bids.

* * *

Eddie Wheeler finally settled his trouble with Bert Annis last night after the question of his release had been discussed during the day by both the principals in the matter and Louis D. Smith, the Tot owner. Just how the matter was arranged was not given out.

Wheeler's contract was signed and delivered last night and notice was sent to Secretary John H. Farrell, of the National association. The contract bears a marginal note to the effect that Wheeler has purchased a third interest in the Terre Haute club.

* * *

Dr. Harley Parker, the new owner of the Grand Rapids club did not arrive until late in the afternoon and said that he had been delayed by the snow storm. He had hardly landed before "Louie" Heilbroner grabbed him and after a short star chamber session sold him Potts and Wickland. The former played short for Saginaw and the latter is an outfielder bought by the Cincinnati club.

Heilbroner also arranged the deal by which Bobby Grogan was sold to Terre Haute. He had been traded to Vancouver by the Dayton management and had announced his refusal to go so far from his home in Detroit. This practically put him on the market and the deal with the Tots was arranged.

* * *

Heinie Tieman was at the meeting trying to find out who he belongs to. At last accounts he was the property of the South Bend team. Zanesville can use him very handily and Grand Rapids would take a chance but he wants to get out of the league and has a chance to go to Jack Hendricks at Denver. This privilege may be given him.

* * *

Aggie Grant was the last magnate to arrive at the meeting. He had to travel all the way from his winter quarters in South Bend. Just where these quarters are located is a matter of some doubt as he subscribes for two or three magazines and has a "steady" girl and very little is seen of him.

Joe Raidy was also a bit late in making the trip but he finally got over from Grand Rapids. Ben Koehler, who is keeping "in the pink" by shooting trouble for the city electrician, Buck Connors, who dispenses damp merchandise all winter, Harry Arndt, who will play in the New York State league next season, Eddie Anderson, traded to Omaha for Johnny Fisher, Eddie Coffey, who is said to be a hold out, and Lee Tannehill, who was looking for a fanning bee, were among the players at the meeting.

Connie Mack Keeps Men on Hand to Fill When Needed

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7.—Developing practically unheard-of ball player stars seems to be second nature to Connie Mack. Any time a star veteran is pronounced all in, Mack appears to have a youngster ready to jump in and fill the bill. How does he manage it? That question has puzzled the fans, as well as quite a few managers for any number of years.

When Lave Cross was through as a third baseman, Connie secured the veteran Jimmy Collins to fill the bill for a year. Lave went back so quick Mack had no chance to recruit a youngster. At the close of the season Collins was fat and slow, and he was turned over to the minors. Frank Baker, practically an unknown youngster, was sent in to fill the gap, and from that very day has been regarded as a star.

It was evident several years ago that Bill Bradley was fast losing his class as a third sacker. The Cleveland club set out to try and get a man to take his place. Any number of men have been tried at the position, but none of them has acted as Bradley was when in his prime. Terry Turner was shifted to third as a last resort, and his work there has been very satisfactory. The Cleveland club, however, has just about as serious a proposition on its hands, as it seems impossible to get a shortstop who will fill the position as well as did Turner.

When Monte Cross demonstrated to Mack that his big league days were over, Connie Mack sent a young collegian by the name of Barry to play shortstop. Mack had been nursing Barry for a year, but the fans and scribes know but little about the youngster. He will be a star inside of two years was what Connie said about him. The fans and the scribes were dubious. Mack's opinion has been ustified by the great work of the former Holy Cross star.

For nearly three years Mack carried Eddie Collins along as a bench warmer, using him at different positions every now and then. To the surprise of Philadelphia fans Mack came out one day with the announcement that the faithful Danny Murphy would hereafter be seen in right field and that Collins would be the regular second sacker. Collins is today regarded as one of the greatest players that ever handled drives around the second sack.

In all probability one year more will mark the end of Harry Davis as the regular first baseman of the Athletics. Are Athletic rooters and Mack worrying about who will take the veteran's place? Not for a minute, as they know Ben Houser is able to fill the bill. Houser has been a bench warmer for two years, but has been learning every day, and is now ready to take his place as a regular.

Not to be caught napping, Mack has two other infielders, McInnes and Derrick. Neither of these two recruits is over 21 years of age, yet both have shown big league class. The work of McInnes in Cuba was of the highest class, proving that he is able to fill in as a regular any time any of the Athletics' infielders are forced out of the line-up. Derrick seems to have plenty of ability, but, of course, needs a couple of years of instruction under Mack's direction before making his debut.

Take the other teams in the American league. Since Ellerfeld left the Highlanders the owners of the New York Americans have been looking hard for a man to play third base. At least a dozen youngsters have been tried at second, but none of them have played the bag like Jimmy Williams.

St. Louis allowed Tom Jones to get away, and ever since has been floundering in the dark for a guardian for the initial sack. The sudden collapse of Jiggs Donahue left the White Sox without a first baseman, and Comiskey is still trying to land a man with big league class. All of his recruits have failed dismally. Since the departure of Jake Stahl, Washington has tried about a dozen first basemen without getting any results. And so it goes down the line. Connie Mack surely seems to have something on the other leaders relative to recruits who can make good.

TRADED FOR UNIFORMS.

Oscar Graham, lefthanded pitcher on the Brewer staff, bears the distinction of being involved in one of the most novel deals ever pulled off in baseball. Shortly after Graham jumped the Minneapolis club several seasons ago Mike Cantillon made overtures to Charley Carr for a trade. Graham wanted to come back. Mique would not hear of it and the trade talk still went on.

Charley Carr was in dire straits for a pitcher and the Miller manager was willing to take almost anything for the redheaded heaver. The Indians' boss dealt in baseball supplies at that time and a trade was soon completed whereby Cantillon was to turn Graham over to him for a set of new uniforms for the Minneapolis club. And to be mean Mique always contended that he skinned Carr in the deal.

Pickups From the Sport World

Tommy Burns has decided to abandon all hope of a match with Bill Lang when informed by a doctor that his knee would be unable to stand the test of severe training.

"Punch" Knoll is evidently afraid that Jimmy Wacker will not come back to form this summer and is looking for a left-hander to take his place.

Ed Walsh and Addie Joss will go to Hot Springs, Ark., within a few days, according to an eastern dispatch. The two star slabmen want to get a little extra conditioning before the real training trip starts.

Comiskey beat Connie Mack out in the race to secure Pitcher Jesse Baker last summer. The Athletics' leader says that Baker should be quite a pitcher, and so say most of the people who have seen him perform.

John Bender, a brother of Pitcher Albert Bender of the Athletics, may be given another trial in the South Atlantic league the coming season. He was in that league a couple of years ago, but was a bad actor and could not stay.

Odds of 4 to 1 are being offered by some unpatriotic Gotham sports that the Giants will not win the 1911 pennant. Even money is offered on the proposition that New York will not beat Chicago in the coming race for the rag.

Frank Delehanty, who sued the Cleveland club for salary in 1907 when he was under suspension, has settled with the club out of court. He was sold to New Orleans while in bad standing with the Naps and his case has been dragging along until the present time.

The St. Louis scribes are already picking out the flaws in Bobby Wallace. One critic says the only error Bobby can be accused of making, at present, is that he is too silent. He may have many others before the end of the coming summer.

Cleveland suggests that, even if worst come to worst, Abe Attell can eke out a living as a boxing instructor. This to a man who has been making $40,000 a year and had splintered his breadwinner on a dub of nearly twice his size, must indeed have been comforting to Abie.

Ward Miller, the outfielder shipped to Montreal by the Reds this winter, says that if he can't make a living playing major league ball he will quit the game and go into the jewelry business. Maybe he can make good on those diamonds, but on the one the ground keeper looks after he failed to sparkle.

Carl Morris, Oklahoma "white hope," says that he has a new knockout punch. Carl declares he has never been called upon to use the blow in any of his battles to date. He looks upon Jim Flynn, whom he meets on February 22, as a dangerous man, and intends to utilize the punch in that bout.

If the Boston Red Sox are not on edge for the greatest kind of a battle for the championship on April 12 next, it will be no fault of the management. By that time the members of the team, outside of the pitchers, will have taken part in at least sixty exhibition games, besides a string of important games on the way east.

Stealing signals has gotten to be a common thing in the big leagues, according to Paul Bruske, the Detroit baseball authority. There is nothing against a manager getting the opponents' signals if he can do so without using unfair tactics. Half of the game is in watching the opposing team's plays, and then trying to guess what they are to do.

Harry Cassidy, the outfielder of the Denver club, claims the world's record, in the past four seasons that he has been a member of the Grizzlies he has taken part in every game played. His record is 620 consecutive games. It is nothing unusual for an outfielder to play in every game throughout a season. To take part in every contest for four consecutive seasons is believed by Cassidy to be a world's mark.

PRETTY WHITE GIRL WHO IS WED TO CROW INDIAN CHIEF.

MADELAINE SULLIVAN
FIANCEE OF PLENTY HAWK, CROW INDIAN CHIEF

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7.—Declaring that she will yet marry Plenty Hawk, an Indian chief of the Crow reservation, Miss Madeline Sullivan, a white Chicago girl, has come back to the home of her mother.

Through the vigilance of the mother, Mrs. Minnie Sullivan, and the aid of the government agent of the reservation, Miss Sullivan was thwarted in the attempt to carry out her desire to become the bride of the red man. She had slipped out of Chicago, and had gone to the side of her Indian sweetheart only to find that word of her coming had preceded her. The path of love quickly was strewn with obstacles, but there have not broken the determination of the girl, who declares it has been foreordained ever since she was a little child that she was some day to be the mistress of a teepee.

"I love Plenty Hawk," cried the girl dramatically on her return to Chicago from a fruitless trip across the continent. "I did not know what life really is until I met him. He is a big, strong man and I like that kind.

AMONG THE CANNIBALS.

"Dear, dear!" remarked Mr. Jackpott Jones, as he dropped the newspaper upon his knees and gazed at his dear wife, sitting on the opposite side of the fireplace. "What an extraordinary case!"

"What is it, dear?" asked sweet Mrs. J., as she leaned back in her chair to the sound of cracking whalebone.

"Why—er—a report here of a ship that was wrecked near Tierra del Fuego, where the cannibals are, you know, dear. The Fuegans killed and ate the males, it appears, but absolutely refused to eat more than one of the five females who were among the survivors of the wreck."

"In—deed! I should have thought they would have preferred to eat ladies. They are so much more tender than men, aren't they?"

"Well, I don't know. It seems, according to this account, that the two men they ate had nothing on but flannel shirts and linen trousers, which the savages munched up with the men. The one woman that they ate—"

"Ah!"

"Had on her, in addition to her stuff clothes, about a pint of hairpins, a wire corset, a bent steel dress improver, seven oxidized silver bangles, a burnished waist belt, with steel chatelaine, scissors, button hook, corkscrew, etc., brass-tipped heels to her boots, gilt—"

"Good gracious, how they must have suffered!"

"Rather! Listen to this: For five days after the chief of the tribe never moved or spoke, but has since recovered and celebrated his convalescence by burning 40 children as a thank offering. He has since sworn, and made his tribe swear, never to eat another white squaw.'"—Tit Bits.

POLAR NOTES.

Captain Peary, being cross-examined by some congressman whose name may have been misspelled, but which nevertheless is not recalled, stated that he had no data by means of which any other man could go to the north pole.

That is, the pole is just as unhandy today as it was when it was found. And it wasn't found, either, because it never was lost. The pole has been right there, attending to business at the old stand, for thousands of years, and helping on the lecture business in its humble way.

However, here Captain Peary tells us that he neglected to blaze the trail, and now the next man who wants to go to the pole will have to discover it all over again.

Boiling it down to a calm simmer, we deduce:

Peary went to the pole; but doesn't know the path.

Cook knows the path, but didn't go. —Chicago Post.

The residence of William Kintz, at 37 Portage avenue, was damaged to the extent of $25 by fire Monday afternoon, caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove in the kitchen.

THIRTY YEARS TOGETHER.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for la grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. RESULTS OF FOOD.

Health and Natural Conditions Come From Right Feeding.

Man, physically, should be like a perfectly regulated machine, each part working easily in its appropriate place. A slight derangement causes undue friction and wear, and frequently ruins the entire system.

A well known educator of Boston found a way to keep the brain and the body in that harmonious co-operation which makes a joy of living.

"Two years ago," she writes, "being in a condition of nervous exhaustion, I resigned my position as teacher, which I had held for over 40 years. Since then the entire rest has, of course, been a benefit, but the use of Grape-Nuts has removed one great cause of illness in the past, namely, constipation, and its oattendant evils.

"I generally make my entire breakfast on a raw egg beaten into four spoonfuls of Grape-Nuts, with a little hot milk or hot water added. I like it extremely, my food assimilates, and my bowels take care of themselves. I find my brain power and physical endurance much greater and I know that the use of the Grape-Nuts has contributed largely to this result.

"It is with feelings of gratitude that I write this testimonial, and trust it may be the means of aiding others in their search for health." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

ATTACK LIKE TIGERS.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, saltrheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

HEALTH NOTES.

What does it profit a man if he gain a railroad empire such as the world has never known if thereby he wrecks his own health?—New York Journal of Commerce.

After twenty years of constant effort, Mr. C. T. Druery finds the problem of the origin of the potato of commerce as great a mystery as ever. His purpose in seeking for the original wild potato plant has been to increase, if possible, the resistance of the commercial potato. He studied various specimens of wild potatoes, but without being able to produce the common potato.

Horace Fletcher says "Anger and worry are like echoes, they do not exist until we call for them, and the louder we call the louder is their response. We can never drown them, yet, if let alone, will drown themselves." He says he can live at the Waldorf-Astoria for $1 per day, because it takes him an extraordinary time to masticate his food. When you chew anything 100 times before swallowing it you are very likely satisfied with smaller amounts.

Mr. Horace Fletcher is the distinguished advocate of thorough mastication as the simplest and most effective means of avoiding disease, of lengthening life by avoiding the conditions in the alimentary canal which Metchnikoff would correct with buttermilk. From apparently hopeless invalidism, Mr. Fletcher has become an athlete at 55, breaking more than one record. Mr. Fletcher has lately organized a Health and Efficiency league, with headquarters at Battle Creek, where he was familiarly known as "the Chew-Chew man."

ACCUSED OF STEALING.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c at all druggists.

Water used in sprinkling the streets of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has with it a certain amount of chloride mixture by which it is hoped to check the spread of infectious diseases. The experiment will be continued long enough to determine the value of the scheme, and if any material benefit is observable this disinfection of the streets will be continued.

Special Offer Until Feb. 15th

CURES AT YOUR OWN PRICE—Every person who calls on me before Feb. 15th will not only receive a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, but absolutely no fee will be charged during that time other than you yourself are willing to pay.

This is of special importance to every person who realizes the value of original methods. What I have claimed in reference to the influence of any Pelvic or Rectal Disease on the Sympathetic Nervous System and all reflex conditions is now the accepted theory of the leading scientists.

No man can afford to undertake his daily work without being fully equipped mentally and physically.

SPRING WILL SOON BE HERE—It is a well known fact that the enervating days of spring and the early days of summer weather have a very deleterious effect upon all sufferers from chronic diseases. Many are unable to withstand this depressing time of the year and must inevitably succumb unless they take a proper care of their health. If you are physically weak NOW is the time to fortify yourself. Wealth may be yours, but without health you will be miserable.

A well beggar has a better time of it any day than a sick king.

I have for fourteen years made a special study of these CHRONIC conditions and have perfected methods that will positively cure. Do not be deceived or be misled into thinking you can afford to prolong your suffering and misery, for what are a few dollars to be compared with health?

OTHERS TREAT, I CURE.

I am making this special offer until Feb. 15th to enable the thousands of sufferers to regain their health and to prove to you that the best is always the cheapest, and my terms are always reasonable considering the fact that when I accept a case I CURE.

I know that success and happiness depend on body and brain vitality. The lack of force is always due to functional decline, to a diseased condition of one or more of the organs of the body, or to a devitalized nervous system. The man who is not right physically and mentally and neglects himself not only limits his future prospects, but is using up the physical capital he has already possessed.

Every man who does less than he should do at his desk, in the shop or on the farm is weak in some way. I have found that the man who cannot accomplish all he expects or hopes for is often the silent sufferer from one hidden disease that affects one or more of the important nerve centers of the body.

These neglected or unknown conditions are usually diseases of the pelvic organs, which reflexly act on the organs of digestion, of elimination and the nervous system, which in turn has its influence on the brain. I have made a special study of the nervous system and have perfected methods that will CURE Pelvic Diseases. I will give you a searching and thorough examination and explain to you the true nature of your trouble.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, the bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken down nervous system and many or most of the troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, etc., are reflex and are the direct results of some pelvic lesion or disease.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct results of chronic or imperfectly treated Pelvic Diseases, such as Varicocele, Piles, Fistula, Stricture, etc. I not only remove the cause, but my many years of experience in the treatment of nervous and pelvic diseases enable me by my special methods to revitalize the entire nervous system and to restore to perfect health nearly all sufferers from nervous breakdown and vital weakness.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of blood poison and kindred diseases.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—This may result from a number of causes. The constant jarring and vibration of trains and trolley cars are a very potent cause. Bicycle riding and the use of riding implements on the farm are factors in producing this disease. In fact, the causes are so many and varied that fully 75 per cent. of all male adults are afflicted to a greater or lesser extent by this disease. The disease is so little understood, and as one of the principal symptoms is a pain in the back, it is usually called kidney trouble and treated with local applications or sedatives which can do no possible good whatever. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

VARICOCELE—I cure Varicocele in a few days' or weeks' time without the use of the knife.

STRICTURE—I readily remove Stricture by my dissolvent method without the use of instruments.

RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without detention from business and without the use of the knife.

If you live out of town write or write on what train you will arrive and I will arrange my engagements so that I can see you at once.

FOUND THE BODY IN THE RIVER

Searchers Solve Mystery Concerning Whereabouts of Bardon.

JUMPED OFF BRIDGE AND WAS DROWNED

When He Saw Engine Was Nearly Upon Him—Comrade Killed.

When the body of a man was dragged from the river at Upper Sandusky yesterday afternoon the mystery surrounding the disappearance last Saturday of Charles Bardon was solved. Bardon left Upper Sandusky Saturday with Charles Beck, intending to pay that gentleman a visit at his home just across the river from that city. Beck's mangled remains were found along the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania, ten feet from the bridge, and an investigation revealed the fact that he had been struck by Pennsylvania train No. 21, but the whereabouts of Bardon was unknown until the recovery of his body from the river. There were no marks on the body to indicate that he had been struck by the engine and it is presumed that to save himself from the engine he dropped between the ties into the water and was drowned. Bardon was fifty-four years old and a bachelor. He was an intimate friend of Mr. Beck and it is supposed he was going to that man's home to spend Sunday, as he had often done before. The remains were turned over to the coroner.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

Have 35,000 Miles of Track and 75,000 Cars.

Ten billion passengers are carried in a year on the electric railways of this country. There are 35,000 miles of electric railway track (single), 75,000 cars, and the capitalization of the companies is four billion dollars. Their annual income is 440 millions. They have 250,000 salaried employes. The companies holding membership in the American Electric Railway association—which is a professional and technical body of practical, operating railroad officials—own 26,425 miles of the above-mentioned track, 66,400 cars, and have a capitalization of two billion, six hundred and ninety-three million dollars. They carry seven billion passengers yearly, almost five times the population of the earth. These gigantic figures and their significance were discussed at a banquet given to the American Electric Railway association by the Electric Railway Manufacturers' association, an affiliated body, in New York, the other evening at the conclusion of the former's mid-winter meeting. It was shown, too, that within the next ten years the existing traffic will, in all probability be doubled. Moreover, the steam roads which, like the Pennsylvania, New York Central, and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, have already electrified divisions of their main lines, as well as the steam roads entering Chicago, will, a decade hence, have carried electrification over a mileage which at the present time would seem incredible. Steam roads having electrical divisions are admitted to membership in the association. Only twenty-five years ago not a mile of electric track existed anywhere, not a dollar was invested in the business. Electric traction is the largest, and perhaps the most wonderful of the new industries. Mr. Arthur W. Brady, of Anderson, Indiana, president of the American Electric Railway association, said in his speech at the New York meeting that perhaps the most interesting and most important subject discussed at the conference had been the relations and proper understanding between the railways and the people.

CARL DUNGAN RESIGNS.

Don't Care for Political Office in Missouri.

Carl Dungan has resigned the office of public administrator of Montgomery county, Missouri, to which he was appointed a year ago by Governor Hadley. He assigns as a reason that the duties require more time than he can give to them. He retains his position as claim agent of the Moberly division of the Wabash. Young Dungan is a son of Claim Agent Z. T. Dungan, of the Peru division of the Wabash, well known in Fort Wayne.

FOREMEN TO HAVE MEETING.

Next Thursday and Friday all of the car shop general foremen of the Pennsylvania Northwest system will have a meeting in this city. Master Car Builder J. A. Graham, of this city, will act as chairman at the meeting and John T. Allen will act as secretary. Other participants in the meeting will be A. L. Hale, of Cleveland; E. E. Alton, of Wellsville; S. Bliss, of Ashtabula; A. F. Williams, of Erie; F. C. Kroff, of Chicago; M. A. Mienhardt, of Chicago; G. E. Geis, of Allegheny; E. A. Knight, of Conway; J. Rischman, of Toledo, and J. Schaff, of Crestline.

BLOCKED TWO ROADS.

Derailed Locomotive Makes Trouble at Peru.

Yesterday morning a Chesapeake & Ohio locomotive was derailed at the Wabash tracks at Peru in such manner as to block both roads for several hours. Two of the Wabash passenger trains, Nos. 9 and 28, had to make a detour via the C. & O. and the Lake Erie and Western roads, and were late in reaching their destinations. Freight schedules were demoralized also, both by this accident and the storm of the night before.

SUPT. W. M. WARDROP RETURNS.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop, of the Pennsylvania, returned from Pittsburg this morning and immediately commenced work upon a lot of matters that awaited attention. It is understood that Mr. Wardrop contemplates a trip over the Western division for the purpose of getting acquainted with the agents and other employes and familiarizing himself more thoroughly with the condition of the road. He will probably devote Thursday and Friday to this work.

TOOK OFF FIFTEEN CREWS.

Pennsylvania Makes Slight Reduction in Force.

Freight traffic, which is quite heavy still, has suffered a slight falling off on the Pennsylvania within the past two or three weeks. As a result there has been a reduction of train crews, fifteen having been dropped from the list. It is understood that about fifty men have been affected by the reduction.

KNEW VICTIMS OF ACCIDENT.

Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst, of the Wabash, was personally acquainted with the six victims of the train and automobile accident near St. Joseph, Mo., last Wednesday. Mr. Hurst this morning received a paper containng photographs of the victims and the scene of the accident, and he was greatly shocked by the news. The victims were the Misses Edna Cooper, Lyla Cooper and Margaret Smith and Stanley Clark, Thomas Spencer and Roger Morton.

ABUTMENTS FINISHED.

H. W. Tapp Pushing Elevation at Fairfield Avenue.

The H. W. Tapp Construction company has completed the abutments for the elevation of the Pennsylvania tracks at Fairfield avenue and has commenced the masonry work on the bases for the piers. This will be finished in a week and then will come the work of erecting the iron part of the bridge and depressing the road bed.

MANY HOMESEEKERS.

Homeseekers' travel out of Fort Wayne today was quite heavy, greater in fact than on many previous occasions. The Pennsylvania, the Nickel Plate and the Wabash each got a share of the business and the Wabash did exceedingly well, selling ten tickets for the early morning train and eight for the train which left the city later in the day. All the purchasers are bound for Texas.

BACK TO THE FARM.

It only required four days' experience to convince M. Friend that the farm possessed more charms for him than the shops. Four or five days ago he took a job as helper in the boiler shop and this morning resigned with the intention of returning to the farm, fully determined to never again leave it.

GETTING NEW UNIFORMS.

The uniforms for the Pennsylvania and the Grand Rapids and Indiana conductors and brakemen have commenced to arrive from the tailors and are being delivered. These new garments will probably be donned by the indivdual owners about the first of May.

ED BARBER BETTER.

Ed Barber, the Pennsylvania passenger brakeman who had an arm broken at Plymouth several weeks ago, is around, carrying the injured arm in a sling. He is getting along nicely now and hopes to be completely well and able to resume work about March 1.

S. E. COTTER WAS HERE.

S. E. Cotter, general superintendent of the Wabash, spent the night in Fort Wayne, looking after some matters of interest to the company. He left this morning for Toledo. With Mr. Cotter were Supt. J. C. Sullivan and Trainmaster C. E. Wells.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

The Wabash has effected a settlement with the widow of Peter Kime by paying $6,500. She sued for $10,000 for the loss of her husband, who was killed in an accident on the road October 15.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Emil Hirsch, a pipefitter's helper, took a position in the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

O. C. Wright, electrical engineer of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, is in Pittsburg today on business for the company.

Division Freight Agent W. A. Sprott and Traveling Freight Agent G. C. Knickerbocker, of the Wabash, were in the city today.

H. M. Dunlap, a truckman at the Pennsylvania warehouse, had a thumb injured yesterday and is off duty as a result.

General Foreman B. F. Sarver, of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania, has gone east in the interest of the company.

Yard Conductors R. E. McNally and Philip Betz, of the Wabash, have been sick a day or two, each being afflicted with grip.

F. L. Knepper, a tinner at the shops, was surprised Sunday by some of his friends, the occasion being his birthday anniversary.

H. J. Straub, a carpenter and vice president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, has gone with his family to Waycross, Wis., to reside.

J. E. N. Dillon is not at his desk in the Pennsylvania motive power rooms today, being afflicted with the grip. His condition is not serious.

Among the passengers from this city on the Wabash train leaving at noon today were Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gaimeyer, who are going to Kansas to visit a married daughter.

Herman Regel, machinist at the Bass shops, has returned from Churubusco, where he was engaged in making repairs on a steam plant a few days.

F. W. Jesse, Michael Sullivan, A. A. Molmar, C. L. Sossenheimer, Frank Hughes, C. W. Berning, C. W. Allen and M. Koehl, Pennsylvania shopmen, are off duty on account of sickness.

Robert Wilt, formerly in the Pennsylvania store house, has been transferred to the draughting department of the machine shop, commencing work there this morning.

J. A. Foster, Oswald Kamm, W. Lebrecht and George Harris have returned to their duties in the Pennsylvania shops, after being sick and off duty a few days.

H. W. Hurst, of the Wabash, will leave tomorrow for Kansas City, where he will meet Mrs. Hurst and accompany her home. She has been spending a month with her parents in St. Joseph, Mo.

Fireman C. A. Genkle, of the Pennsylvania, fell from his engine while lighting the head light at Crestline yesterday and sustained some bruises about the hips and shoulders. They are not serious.

Assistant Foreman Jacob Backes resumed work in the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning. He had been sick two weeks. Charles Loraine, a boilermaker, also reported for work this morning, after a two weeks' absence.

Walter Baals, who was recently transferred from the Fort Wayne Electric works to the General Electric works at Schenectady, will play polo with the Schenectady team. He is an expert in that line of sport and was connected with a team at the local works.

HOLD INDIANA LAW EXAMPLE.

Missouri and Pennsylvania May Pattern After Hoosier Charity Statute.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—The Board of State Charities and Corrections yesterday received two requests for copies of the Indiana law governing official outdoor relief for the indigent sick. W. T. Cross, secretary of the Missouri Board of State Charities, Columbia, Mo., calls the present law in Indiana an "historic law" on the subject. A letter from the secretary of the Pennsylvania board states that the association is strongly urging the enactment of the Indiana law in that state.

GRAY HAIR TALKS

HAIR INDEX OF AGE. DON'T LOOK OLD.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and is beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hairs to become manifest. There is no necessity for this. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, the preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by

Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7.—There was a downward turn today in all the leading staples on 'change. A big increase in the European visible supply of wheat had much to do with the decline in the price of that cereal. The total amount available across the Atlantic showed an enlargement of 1,240,000 bushels, compared with a week ago. Furthermore foreign crop conditions were reported as generally improving especially in France. In this country cash demand continued discouraging and there were signs of rain in the dry districts southwest. The opening was unchanged to ¼c lower. May started at 95¾c to 95⅞c with the same variation from last night as the rest of the market and then dropped to 94⅞c.

Pit traders and other local speculators took the selling side of corn and overcame initial firmness based on commission house buying. May opened unchanged to ⅛c up at 50¼c and declined to 49⅞c.

Oats were weak, affected by the bearishness of wheat and by a heavy increase of local stocks. May started a shade to ⅛c off at 32⅝@32⅝c and fell to 32¼c.

Longs including packers unloaded hog products and gave the market an easy tone. First sales were the same as last night to 12½c below with May options at $18.25 to $18.27½ for pork, $9.75 to $9.80 for lard and $9.77½ for ribs.

Toledo, O., Feb. 7.—North Lima, 82c; South Lima and Indiana, 77c.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 7.—Opening quotations on the stock exchange today as a rule were close to the final prices of yesterday with a rather irregular tone. United States Steel, St. Paul and Louisville & Nashville were off ¼ and Missouri, Kansas & Texas ⅝. Reading advanced ¼ on sales of 3,200 shares and Union Pacific and Great Northern preferred gained a like amount. Missouri Pacific rose ⅝.

The course of prices in the first hour was mixed and fluctuations were narrow. The market grew slightly firmer after the opening but eased off on distribution of selling orders.

The stock market developed a decidedly weaker tone as the morning progressed and prices dropped sharply. The downward movement was accelerated by growth of bearish sentiment and an increase in selling orders. Talk of an extra session of congress had a depressing effect, as did expectations of an unfavorable statement tomorrow by the copper producers association. By noon net losses had been established of ½ to 1¾, the latter in Amalgamated Copper. Bonds were steady.

Extension of the selling movement depressed prices to a point which uncovered buying orders and the market rallied slightly. On the decline the loss in Lehigh Valley, Louisville & Nashville, International Harvester and Virginia Carolina Chemical reached a point. Delaware & Hudson and American Beet Sugar 1¼ and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 2.

Recovery made further progress and the demand became wider, with especial strength in several issues which were caught in the recent upward movement. The market as a whole, however, remained dull, prices creeping up to about a level with last night's closing. Erie, Missouri Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio gained a point.

The market closed strong. A spirited buying movement arose in the final hour and the high prices of the day were reached. Reading, St. Paul, Northern Pacific and Northwestern were lifted 1 to 1⅝ above yesterday's close. Some slight recessions followed.

CANNOT CHOOSE A NAME

For New Bank at Huntington Until Legislature Acts.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 7.—Pending passage or defeat of Senator J. C. LaMont's bill regarding bank organizations, promoters of the new Farmers' bank in Huntington must delay action in effecting a permanent organization and incorporation. If the new law is defeated, the bank will be incorporated under the name of "The Farmers' Trust company." If the law passes the name of the new corporation will be "The Farmer's State bank." Announcement is made that capital stock will be $50,000 and that there will be 100 stockholders, two-thirds of these farmers. Distribution of stock has been as extensive as possible for the purpose of soliciting support.

QUESTIONS WERE DIFFICULT.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 7.—The questions of the January teachers' examination proved unusually hard, those allotted for the work of the afternoon proving especially perplexing. Out of the fifty who applied for the county license there were only twenty-one who passed, according to the grades as completed yesterday by County Superintendent Ira Potts. Of these seven secured three year licenses, nine were awarded twenty-four months permits and the remaining five were for but one year. The report from the papers sent to the state has not yet been received.

PRECISE

"Mary, if any one calls, I shall be back in ten minutes."

"Very well; and how soon will you be back if no one asks for you?"

At the recent meeting of the British association the question of economical production of power from tides and winds was again under discussion, and it has been taken up widely by scientific journals in Europe. La Revue Scientifique calls attention to a system of utilizing the power of sea waves to actuate a dynamo which has been employed during the last six months at the mouth of the river Gironde. An air chamber is connected with a well, which communicates with the sea at a depth below the level of the lowest tides. By the advance and recession of the waves changes of pressure are produced in the air chamber, and a system of valves enables the resulting air currents to be applied to rotating a kind of turbine. It is said that the apparatus works equally well in calm and stormy weather.

PICTURES SPOIL COWBOY.

"Oregon ranchmen have a brand-new plaint; it is that the moving picture show is spoiling the cowboy," said a westerner, who is visiting Milwaukee. "Filmmakers demand their services and pay them handsomely for riding bucking horses in front of the moving picture camera or for taking part in alleged 'western drama.' The cowboys like the idea.

"The old ranchers are sore and ill conceal their hostility. They declare the pictures only make ornery cowboys and give easterners wrong ideas of life in the cattle country.

"As a matter of fact, they say, riding bucking horses is but a small part of a cowboy's life. As for the traditional western drama, where the rancher's daughter marries the heroic cowboy who foils the traditional 'gun fighter' of the frontier, the dwellers of the range country have only contempt."—Milwaukee Sentinel.
